A Dedicated

The only faculty member of the original staff at Hoover High School when it opened in 1930, is going to retire. After 36 years of teaching at Hoover, Mr. Close says, "I sort of grew up with the school. I've stayed at Hoover because I like it."

Among his many laurels lies the honor of being the music department chairman. The fight song played at football games was composed by this popular teacher. His musical talent was an important part of his Music Appreciation, Harmony, and Mixed Chorus classes. Mr. Close met his wife, Rhea, at Hoover in 1930, when she was also a teacher. Today they have three grown children.

Though Mr. Close will retire from teaching at Hoover, he is not retiring from teaching; he plans to teach privately.

He said he also plans to work on some of his unfinished piano compositions and dabble in landscape painting.

A large debt of gratitude is owed to Mrs. Victoria Baker, a senior counselor, who is also retiring.

Sharon,

Welcome to a New Principal

For me, a newcomer to the Cardinal Campus, this has been a time to learn, to get acquainted, and a chance to appreciate the tremendous spirit and the traditions that are truly 'Hoover High School.'

On behalf of the school, may I thank you for your leadership and for the contributions that you have made this year. In return, we trust that your education at Hoover High School has played a part in qualifying you for whatever new endeavor you are facing at this important stage of your life."

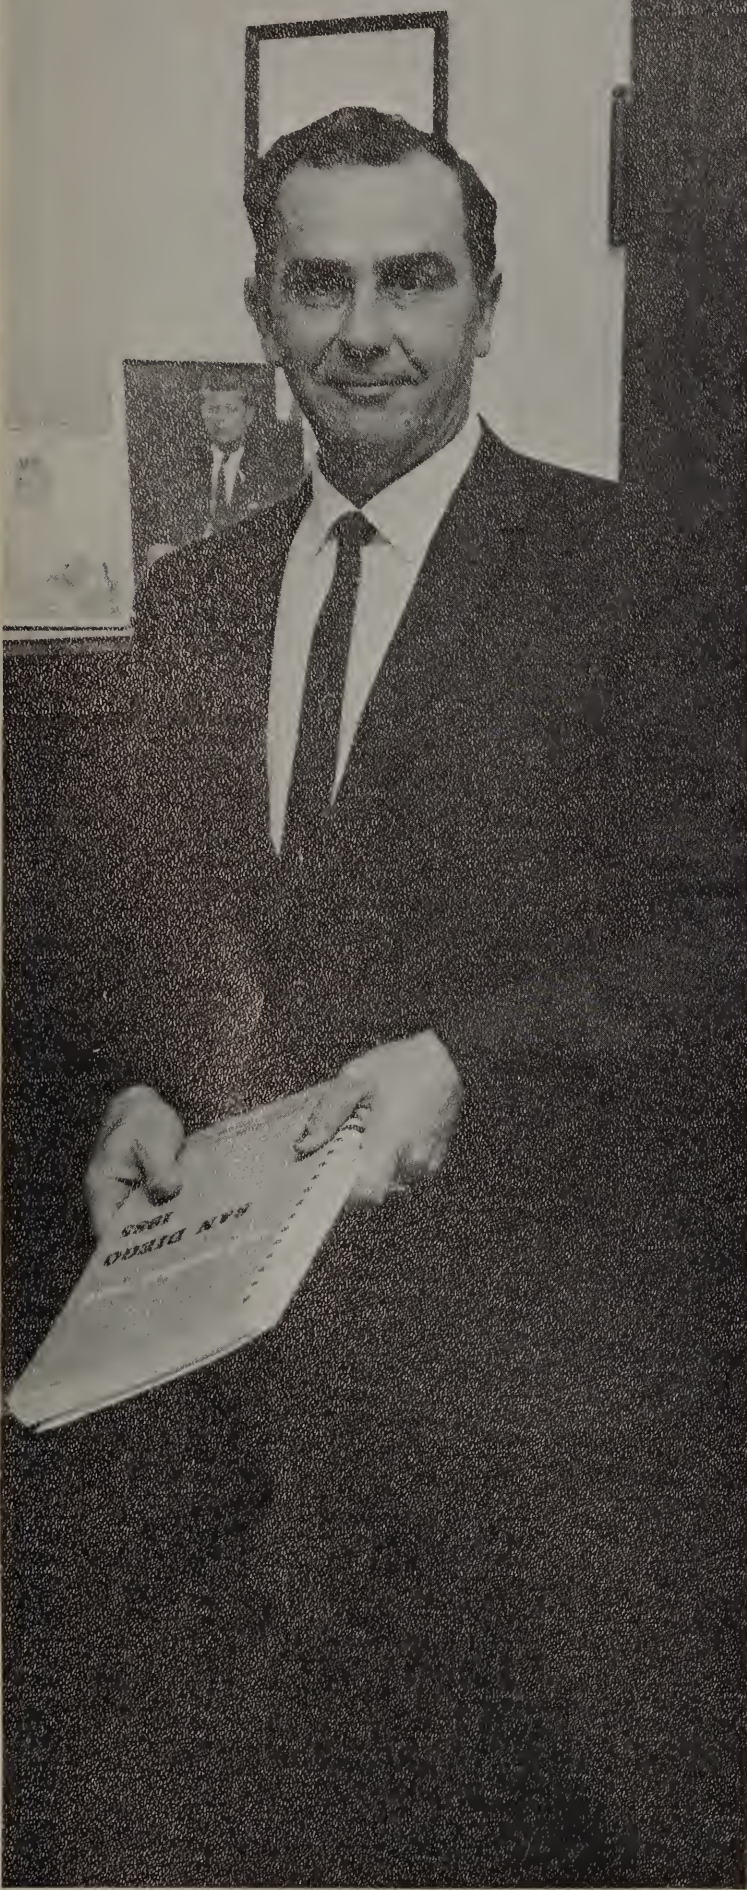

Mr. C. Russell Henzie this year became the third principal in Hoover's thirty-six-year history. His A.B. degree was earned at La Verne College and an M.A. from Claremont College. Mr. Henzie has done graduate work at U.C.L.A. and S.D.S.C.

Before coming to Hoover, he taught U.S. History and speech at Roosevelt Junior High and for six years was a special guidance counselor for the San Diego City Schools, often visiting Hoover.

In 1956, Mr. Henzie became the principal of Horace Mann Junior High and remained there until coming to Hoover this year.

Mr. Henzie is well acquainted with teenagers since he has three married sons. He also has an eleven-year-old daughter named Susan.

This wonderfully unique year has been made so, through the dedicated efforts of our new principal, Mr. C. Russell Henzie.

An important part of being a good principal is maintaining close contact with the student body.

and Returning Vice-Principals

Mr. Ralph Lynch, our administrative assistant, Mrs. Ruffa, Mr. Matthie, Mr. Cassie, and Mr. Henzie met regularly to discuss matters concerning our school and student body.

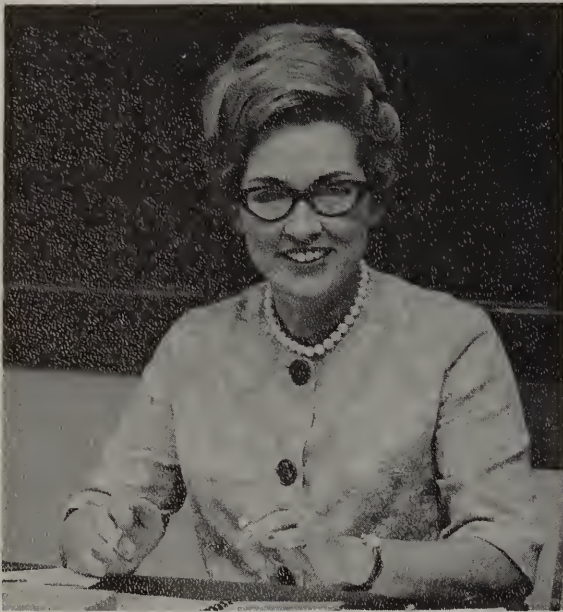

"This has been a year of excitement, challenge, and accomplishment. Our students are to be congratulated on their outstanding showing of cooperation, leadership, and academic achievement. My wish for them is that the success they have known at Hoover will follow them throughout their lives." Thus said Mrs. Lois Ruffa, our girls' Vice Principal.

Since 1948, Mr. William Matthie has held the positions of Director of Athletics, football and baseball coach, math teacher and Attendance Coordinator. Since 1961, Mr. Matthie has been one of Hoover's outstanding vice-principals.

Mr. Leslie R. Cassie taught math, drafting, and baseball before his appointment as one of Hoover's fine Vice Principals. A Hoover alumnus, Mr. Cassie in his free time enjoys golfing and scouting for the Yankees.

Counselors Lead Students in

Mrs. Patricia Kintzer had the unique role of being both Special Counselor and social studies and math teacher. She taught both vocational and practical math.

As Sophomore counselors, Mrs. Theresa Volz and Mr. Richard Woolley were kept extremely busy. Mr. Woolley was also sponsor of the stage crew and Drama Club.

Our class sponsors were Mr. Fulton Vickery, Mrs. Theresa Volz and Mr. Maurice Smith, representing the twelfth, tenth, and eleventh grades, respectively. They strove to unite the classes and create a better year for everyone. In the picture they are planning a program for an eleventh grade girl.

Mrs. Victoria Baker and Mr. Fulton Vickery, the Senior class advisors, and Mrs. Doris Oatman, the scholarship advisor, often discussed scholarships and applicants. The responsibility of making class schedules and changes for the Senior class and talking to individuals about their colleges and careers, belonged to these counselors.

Selection of Classes, Colleges

Counselors' duties were many-sided. Most time-consuming among their responsibilities was scheduling the classes for the entire student body. They helped students select classes which met graduation, interest, and college entrance requirements.

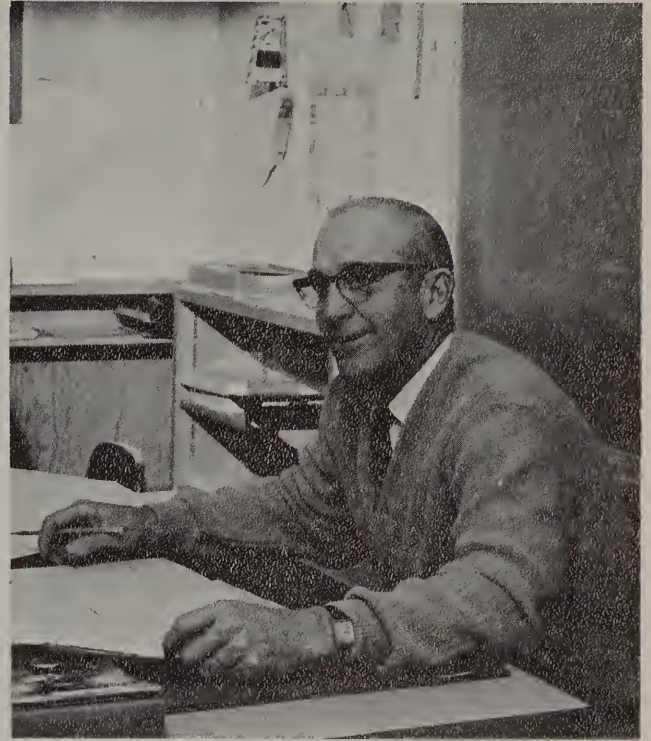

Students often went to their counselors for assistance in the selection of colleges and careers. Our advisors received the latest information about colleges and scholarships from all over the United States, which they passed on to interested and qualified students.

Always available, our counselors were anxious to discuss problems or questions with individual students. Each advisor dealt with part of the Sophomore, Junior, or Senior classes.

Mrs. Volz, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Vickery were the class sponsors for tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grades respectively. It was their responsibility to see that the classes were given the best guidance, opportunities, and activities.

Hoover's work counselor, Mrs. Gleason, and our scholarship advisor, Mrs. Oatman, helped students find, and take advantage of, valuable opportunities.

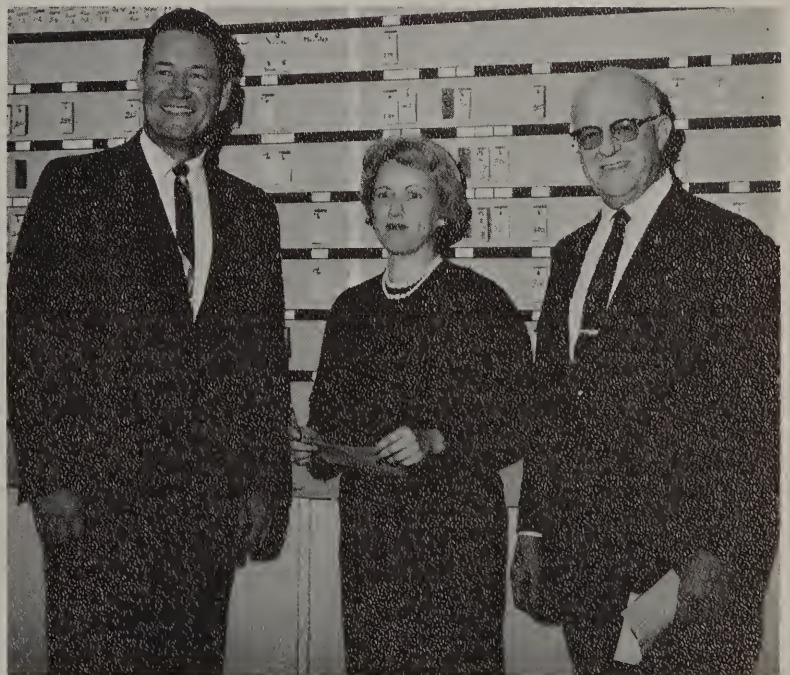

A large debt of gratitude is owed to each counselor for cheerful assistance and understanding given to each Hoover student.

Mr. Kenneth Dowell had many duties. Besides being a U.S. History 1-2 teacher, Mr. Dowell was the A.S.B. advisor. Many other students knew him as their counselor for he was the inter-class advisor this year.

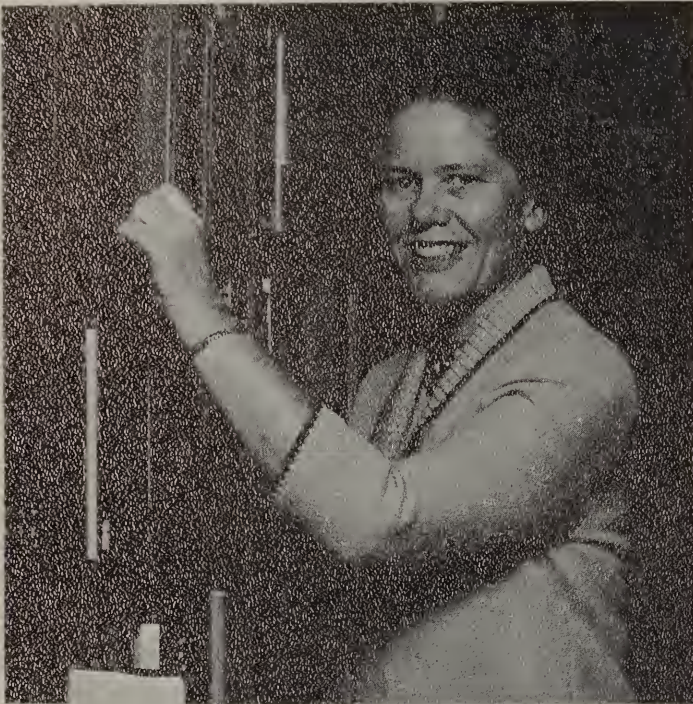

Hoover's work counselor was Mrs. Margaret Gleason. She assisted Hoover students in getting part time jobs before and full time jobs after graduation.

Mr. Maurice Smith, Miss Jo Anne Beavan, and Mr. Wendall Allen were the Junior counselors this year. Mr. Smith, a Hoover graduate, is also the Junior class sponsor and our attendance coordinator. Miss Beavan was an attendance coordinator as well as the sponsor of the Cardinal Co-Eds. Beside being a counselor and testing coordinator, Mr. Allen sponsored the Key Club.

Fine Staff Members Are

Miss Anita Gillett, our librarian and a Hoover graduate, handled the enormous task of running our library and training student assistants.

Many hundreds of hours have been spent in our library this year. Students and faculty members both found it an excellent place to read and study.

Invaluable assistance in operating our library and the book room was provided by Mrs. Ruth Precourt and Mrs. Virginia Dossey, our library clerks.

One of the largest, most complete high school libraries in the city is located here at Hoover. More than 15,000 books and a wide selection of magazines are available for recreation, research, and study. Hundreds of excellent new books were added to the shelves of our library this year. Grateful appreciation goes to Miss Gillett, Mrs. Dossey, and Mrs. Precourt, our patient and thoughtful librarians.

Physical fitness was the theme of the year and Mrs. Helen Baldauf, our school nurse, carried it out through informative discussions presented to the gym classes. As sponsor of the Health and Safety Committee, she carried out the total health program in yet another way.

Specialized Teaching Prepares

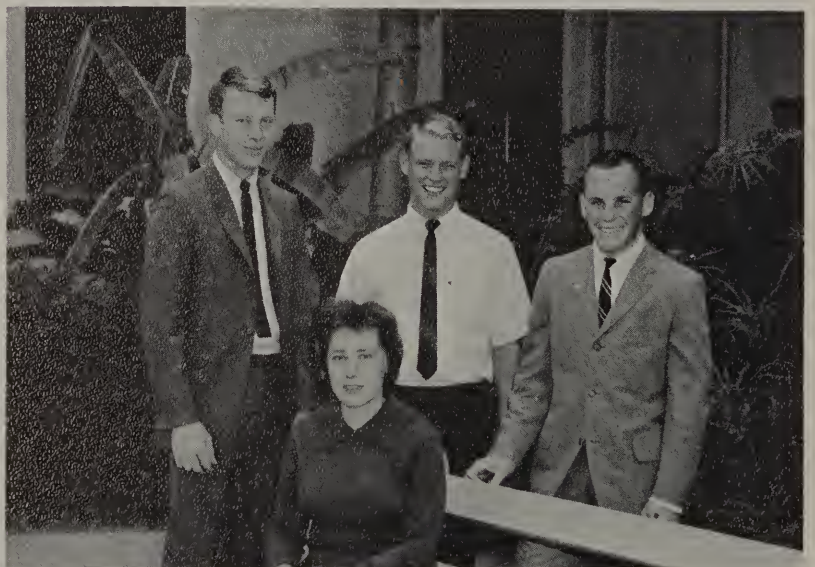

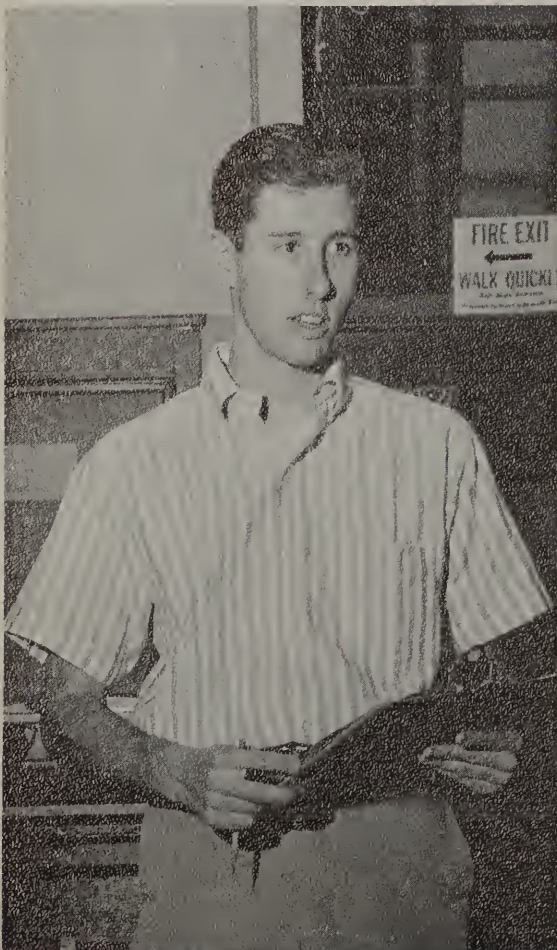

Weekly, Mrs. Mary Tiesen, left, and Mrs. Martha Ulvestad came to Hoover from the Education Center. Mrs. Tiesen helped the handicapped with their studies. Mrs. Ulvestad was a visiting teacher.

Both from the Education Center, Mr. Joseph Tody, left, and Mr. William Lindsay, right, visited Hoover regularly. Mr. Tody assisted as a psychologist and Mr. Lindsay as a visiting teacher.

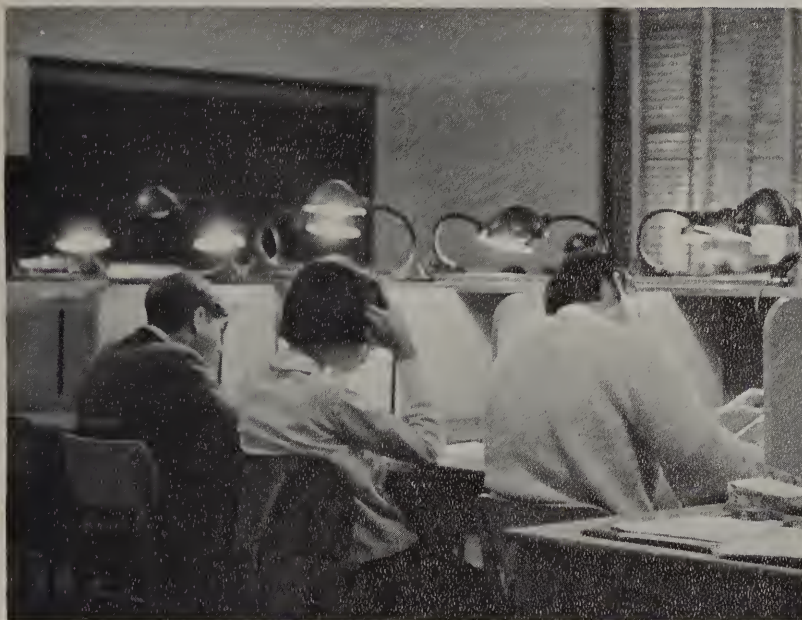

This year we had a number of specially trained people from the Education Center who assisted the teachers and administration. Several visited Hoover each week to work with the blind and retarded students. Teachers' assistants also had an important role in the English, Social Studies, Homemaking, and Musical departments. Others worked in the Library, Audio-Visual office, or as lunch supervisors.

Left: Projectors and record players were supplied to the entire school through the audio-visual room. Mr. Tim MacNeil, a teacher assistant, helped Mr. Galen Sayler with this tremendous job.

Above: Serving as lunch supervisors, four teacher assistants from San Diego State College came to Hoover daily. Mr. Thomas Christensen, Miss Roberta Welty, Mr. Kermit Leonard, and Mr. Ross Brown persuaded Hooverites to keep our campus clean.

for College and Home

Students learned the technique of more comprehensive reading in this laboratory, equipped with separate booths to aid concentration.

Mrs. Doris Oatman used the tachistoscope, a machine designed to improve speed and accuracy of visual interpretation, in her reading improvement classes.

Accelerated Reading is a course designed to develop reading and study skills. Mrs. Oatman and Mrs. Moe taught the nine-week course which was a valuable opportunity for all students. A new semester-long class called a Pilot Study in Reading was originated this spring to provide a deeper, more complete knowledge of these essential skills.

Coats, suits, and dresses made in the Clothing classes were modeled at our first May Fashion Show. Several Foods classes entered the annual J. J. Jessops and Son Table Setting Contest, again proving the creativity of Hoover's girls.

Expression and creativity were sparked by Hoover's Art Department. Constantly seeking to discover hidden talents in their students, the Art Department provided a new course this year. Taught by Mrs. Delany, Exploration in Art teaches appreciation and history of art. This became a very popular class with Hoover students.

Many classes were offered in the field of art. Crafts, Senior Art Studio, Color and Design, Drawing and Painting, Life Drawing, Art 1-2, and Exploration in Art offered students a wide variety of courses.

Students entered their best works in the all-city art show. For the second year, the Senior Art Studio produced many talented artists. Fine art work was displayed for the entire school through the many posters and bulletin boards for open house, homecoming, and the annual nominating convention. Hoover's art work continues to rate excellent.

Chairman for the Art department was Miss Martha Murphy. She taught five classes of crafts, ranging from beginning to advanced courses.

First among the San Diego City High Schools was Hoover's music department. This merited credit went to our three versatile instructors. Mrs. Harriet Buker directed one hundred and eighty students in the Cardinal vocal performing groups. Mr. Gary Stollsteimer's instrumental performing groups climbed to a height of one hundred and twenty-five students. Mr. Frank Close sponsored the mixed chorus and also directed the Harmony.

Music Appreciation, a class dealing with the history and structure of music, was taught by Mr. Frank Close.

Positions in the musical groups ranging from the orchestra and band to the Ensemble and choirs were available to students interested in musical expression.

Jointly, these fine performing groups presented the Christmas program, Patriotic program, and Spring Concerts to their attentive audiences.

Above: Mr. Joseph Sullivan, a member of the music department this year, was a teacher assistant from San Diego State College.

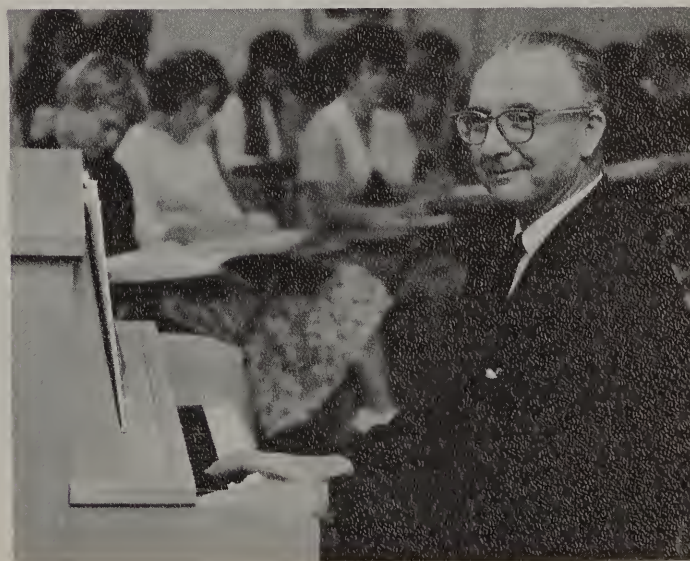

Below: Hoover's band, orchestra, and Pep Band were led by Mr. Gary Stollsteimer, a talented musician who played first trumpet in the San Diego Symphony Orchestra.

Self Expression

Above: Mrs. Harriet Buker led most of Hoover's vocal groups, including the Ensemble, Handbell, Girls', and the A Cappella choirs. She taught the Boys' Glee Club and tenth grade English as well. This busy instructor was also the sponsor of the Vespers Committee which was responsible for the non-denominational worship service held for the graduating Seniors.

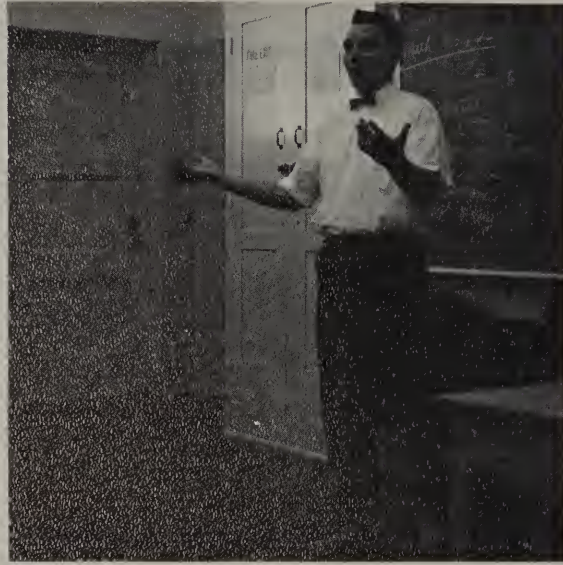

Right: The only remaining original faculty member, Mr. Frank Close planned retirement at the end of the 1965-1966 school year, to be followed by a trip to Europe. This popular teacher taught the Mixed Chorus, Harmony and Music Appreciation.

Speech, Literature, and Drama Open New

Teacher assistants from San Diego State College, for the English department, were Miss Nada Grigsby and Mr. Robert Hamilton. Both assisted Mr. Jack Krill in his contemporary literature classes.

As sponsor of the Senators, Mr. John Schermerhorn taught students the fine art of public speaking. Drama, debate, and public speaking were also available under his instruction.

Mrs. Ethel Imel and Miss Diana Claypool often discussed grades as they worked in our English department. Mrs. Imel, chairman, taught advanced and regular tenth grade English. Miss Diana Claypool, a teacher assistant, also helped the librarians.

The Hoover English department is making every effort this year to secure and use the newest ideas and materials." Mrs. Ethel Imel, chairman, also said that the English department is one of the largest in the history of Hoover, with twenty-four teachers of advanced and regular sections with a threefold emphasis on language, literature, and composition. Invaluable members of the English department are the teacher assistants from San Diego State College. Readers are also available for all classes. This enables the teacher to emphasize the written assignment with the assurance that all papers will be carefully evaluated. The English department is especially proud of its reading laboratory and program which are designed to increase the reading skills of all Hoover students.

Nations and People Are

Mrs. Lora Arnold taught tenth grade English and Russian. She was also the sponsor of Hoover's Russian Club.

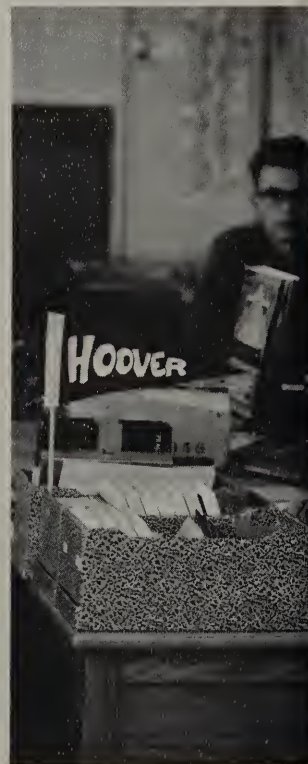

Evidenced by the fact that he was the sponsor of the French Club and the American Field Service, Mr. Francis King liked teaching others to enjoy languages. He taught first, second, and third year French.

Chairman of the language department, Miss Fausta Miller taught second and third year Spanish to a large number of Hoover students.

Mrs. Frances Hoff taught first and second year Spanish. She was also the sponsor of the Pan American Club.

United Through Language

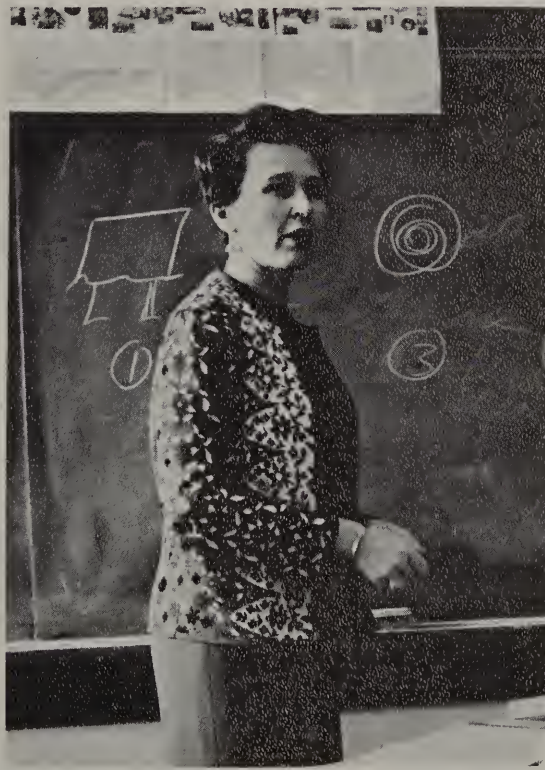

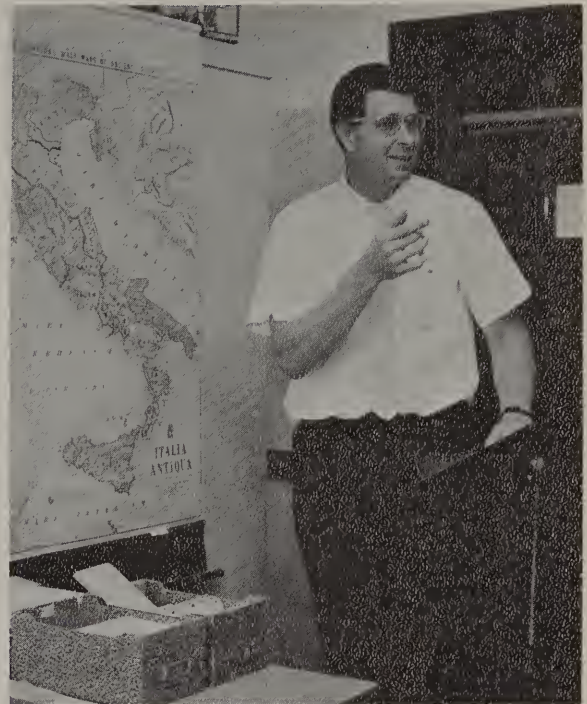

Languages are gaining an increased amount of importance in our world. To help our students meet these needs, Hoover offers five major languages. French, German, Latin, Russian, and Spanish are available to those desiring to broaden their lingual knowledge.

To assist learning, a laboratory equipped with individual microphones and earphones is available to all language students. Taped recordings made in various languages drill and teach the student to recognize and speak another language.

During the second semester, Hoover's language department was given the services of Sharon Patrick, a teacher assistant.

Spanish students were given the opportunity to enter the AATSP contest on March 26. As usual, Hoover students did very well on this reading, speaking and comprehension test.

First, second, and third year Latin were taught by Mr. Jim Mullin. He was also the sponsor of C.S.F. and the Latin Club.

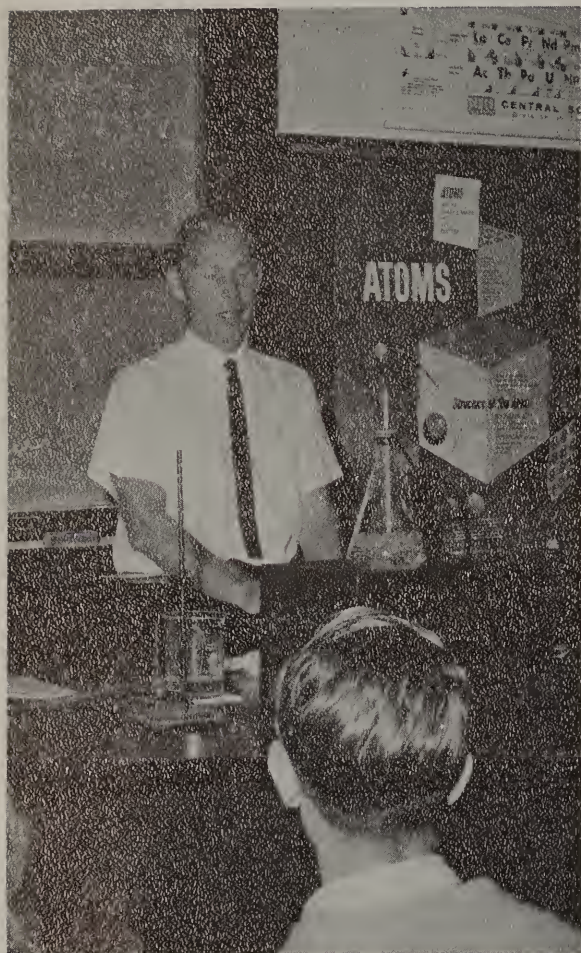

Left: Miss Marie Schoessler taught first, second, and third year German. The German Club was also sponsored by Mrs. Schoessler.

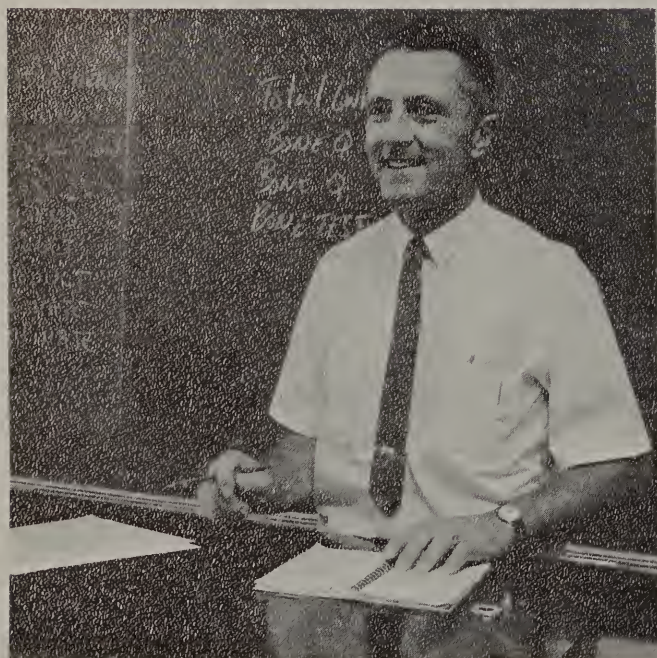

Above: Future Teachers of America was sponsored by Mrs. Ann Peterson, a first and second year Spanish teacher.

Right: Movies depicting Spanish customs and the usage of the language were a valuable teaching device in Mrs. Isaura Geiger's second through fifth year Spanish classes.

Discovery and Understanding of Our Universe

Above: Students measure carefully during an experiment to test chemical reactions. Left: Mr. Robert Nordstrom, chairman of the science department, was the sponsor of the Science Club. His advanced and regular chemistry classes were enhanced by demonstrations and experiments relating to the various areas of study.

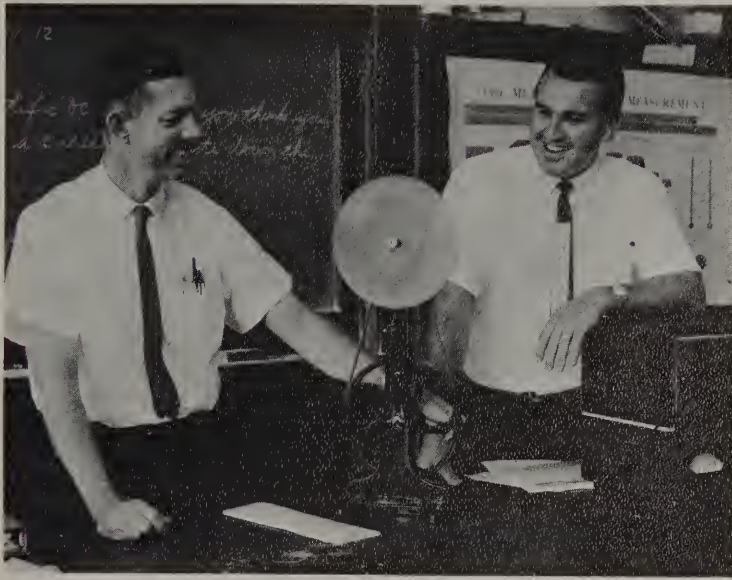

Anatomy and football were the main topics of discussion by Mr. Roy Engle, a Hoover graduate. As varsity football coach and our physiology teacher, Mr. Engle was a popular figure on the field and in the classroom.

As both Dias Cardinales advisor and a chemistry teacher, Mr. Fred Jappe's discussions may range from printer's deadlines to molecular structures and ions in solution.

Is Built on Experiment and Study

Mr. Harold Jameson and Mr. Walt Baranski taught General Science 1-2 this year. Mr. Baranski was also the coach of our J.V. football and basketball teams.

Advanced and regular biology were taught by Mr. Raymond Harris.

Eight different courses were offered to students wishing to broaden their scientific knowledge. These classes ranged from Physiology, which dealt with the human anatomy, to Honors Physics and were designed to show and study the methods of science and explore the regular recurring patterns of nature.

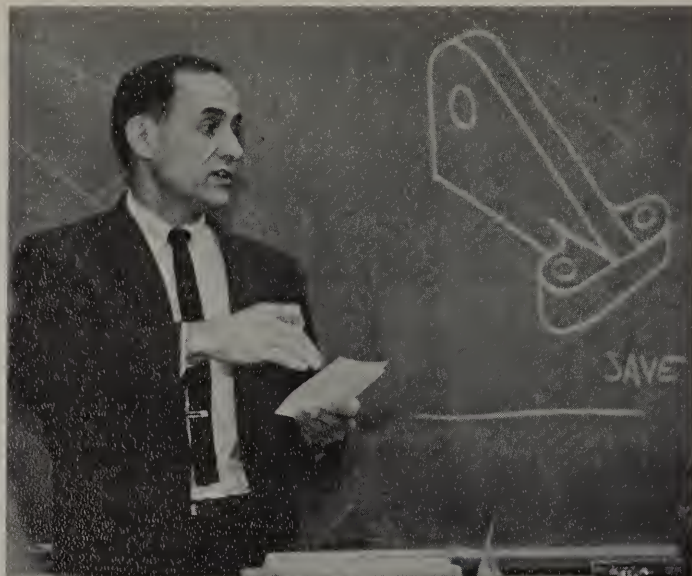

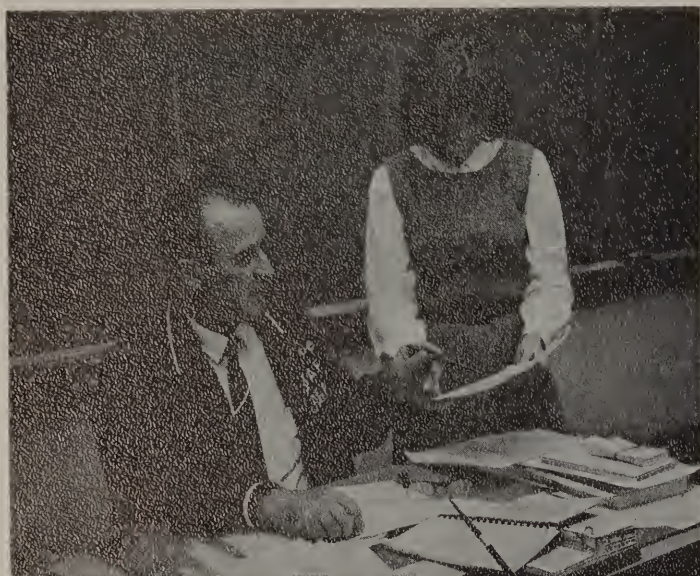

All new physics equipment and the latest text adaptations helped students discover and apply the intricate workings of nature.

The audio-visual aspect of teaching received a greater emphasis as a larger number of excellent films were used this year to acquaint students with the various wonders of science.

Left: Honors Physics, P.S.S.C. Physics, and Science Problems were taught by Mr. Robert Cizek, Jr., who was also the sponsor of Science Research Fellowship.

Above: Mr. Edmund Vestal and Miss Genevieve Rainwater both taught Biology 1-2. Mr. Vestal taught General Science 1-2 and was also the sponsor of the Safety Committee.

Something new at Hoover was the math library, located in Room 215. A great variety of books were available to interested students. Our General Math classes used a new book by Lankford, Ulrich, and Clark, called Essentials in Mathematics. Senior Trigonometry and Advanced Algebra initiated a new text by Fisher and Ziebur, entitled Integrated Algebra and Trigonometry.

A large number of classes, ranging from basic skills to college courses, were available to students endeavoring to meet college and career requirements. Superiorly staffed, Hoover's Math Department once again led the city in versatility and competition.

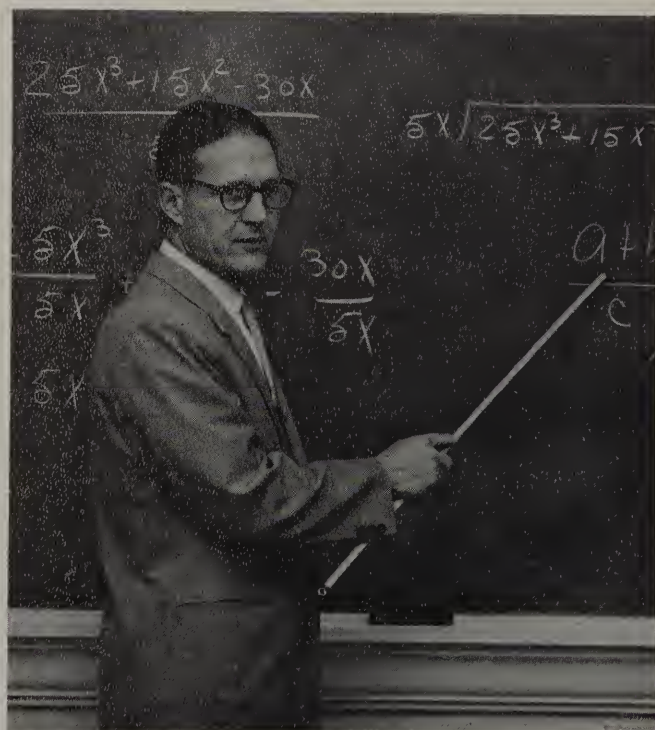

Chairman of the Math department and sponsor of the Math Club, Mrs. Florence Jordan, had many responsibilities this year. Among them were her Advanced Math 7-8 and Algebra 1-2 classes.

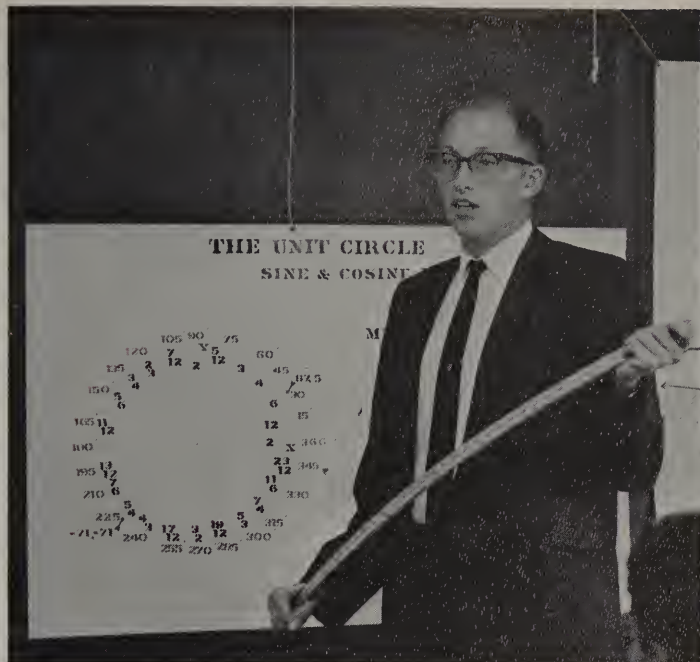

Upper left: A Hoover graduate, Mr. John Finan was the Junior Varsity Football and Varsity Swimming coach as well as a General Math teacher this year.

Above: Sponsor of the Hoover Red Cross and a Beginning and Mechanical Drafting teacher, Mr. Benjamin Ciccati was kept quite busy.

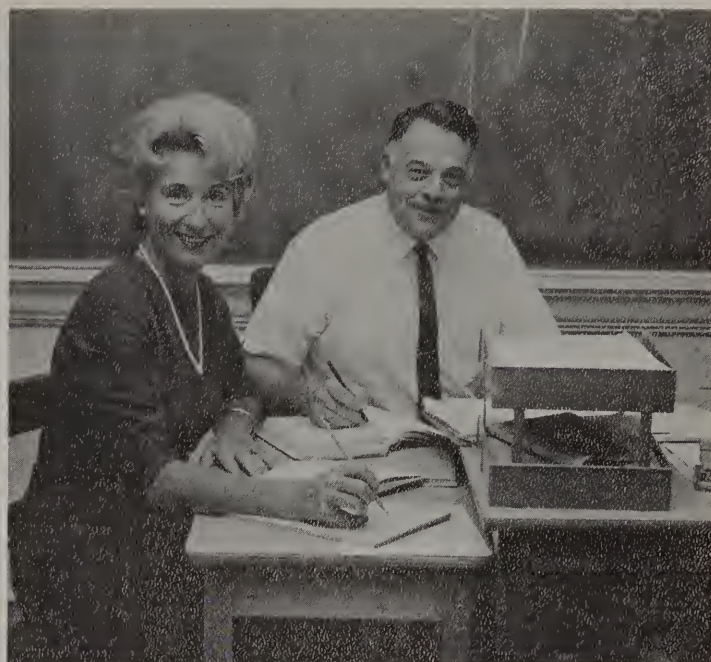

Math Meets

Sponsor of the honorary service group known as the Ecivres, Mr. Francis Kidder, above, explained an algebraic assignment for his Intermediate Algebra 1-2 and Advanced Math 5-6 classes.

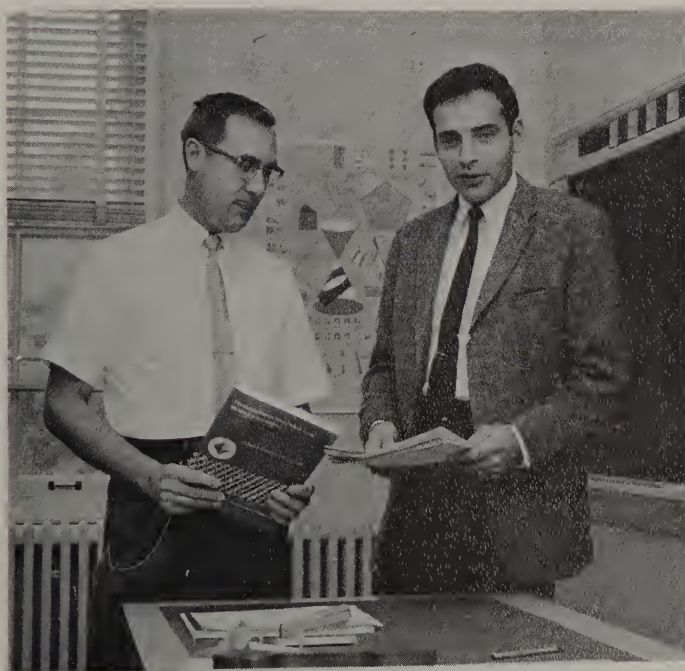

Mr. Richard Darst here discussed the sine and cosine and the unit circle. This was part of the instruction in his algebra classes. He taught Advanced Math 9-10, as well as Basic and Intermediate Algebra.

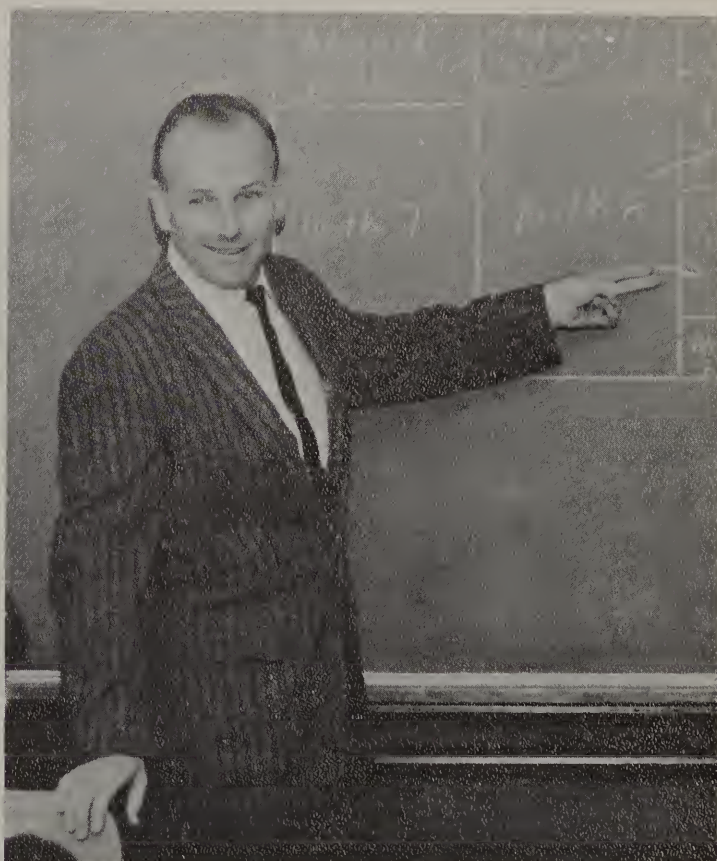

The solution of an algebra problem was the topic of discussion here by Miss Geraldine Connell and Mr. Floyd Lowe. Both taught geometry and Miss Connell also taught Trigonometry and Advanced Algebra. Mr. Lowe was an Intermediate Algebra teacher as well as the Chess Club sponsor.

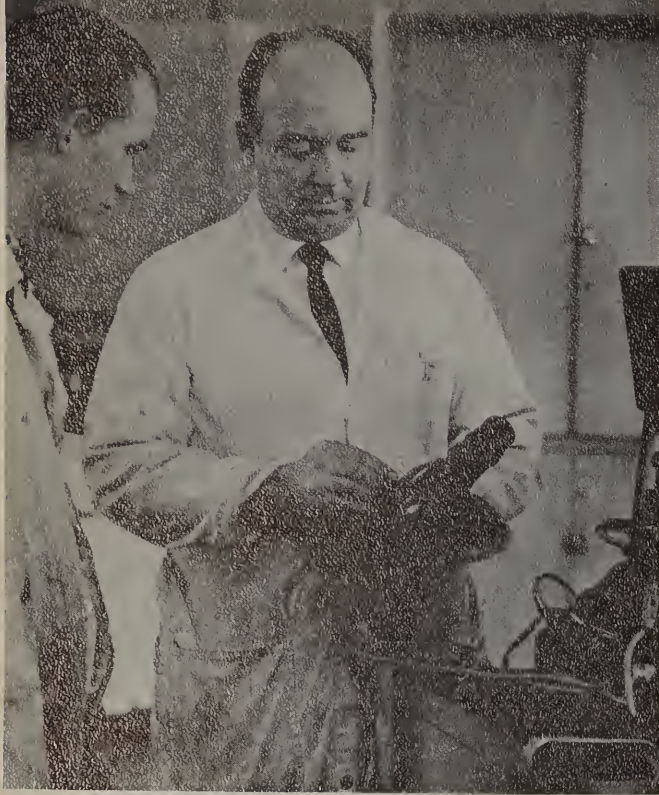

Modern Needs

Mr. Graydon Crabtree and Mr. Stuart Macnofsky both taught Plane Geometry and Basic Algebra. Mr. Macnofsky, a new teacher at Hoover, also taught General Mathematics.

Mr. A. Decker often used visual aids to illustrate new ideas in his Algebra and General Math classes.

Mr. Bill Mulkey explains the usage of one of the many machines in the auto shop to a student in one of his classes.

To acquaint the student with industry, hand skills and an appreciation for work are the goals of the industrial arts department. A variety of skills were available and boys had their choice of the seven different classes offered here at Hoover. Architectural drawing, drafting, printing, electric, wood, metal and auto shops were available. Printing, architectural drawing and drafting were the favorites of the girls who also took a number of these courses.

Two period long classes in graphic arts, metal and auto shops were offered as occupational courses designed to begin to prepare the student for a job after graduation.

Architectural drawing classes made model houses from blueprints they designed and four electric shop students entered the Motor Winding contest in February.

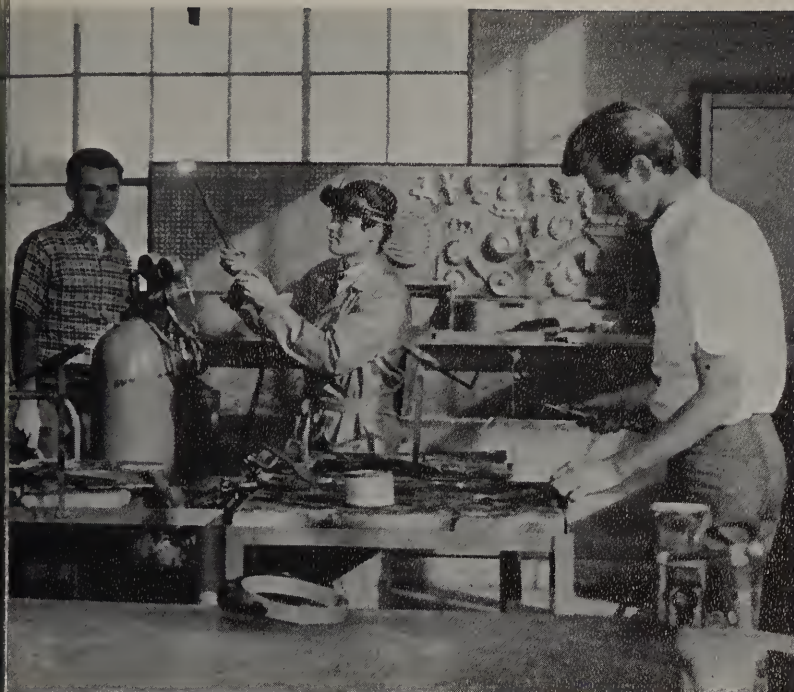

Industrial Arts Teach

The extreme skill, care and patience required to produce a good goblet is the topic of conversation as Mr. John Kauble instructs a student in his metal class.

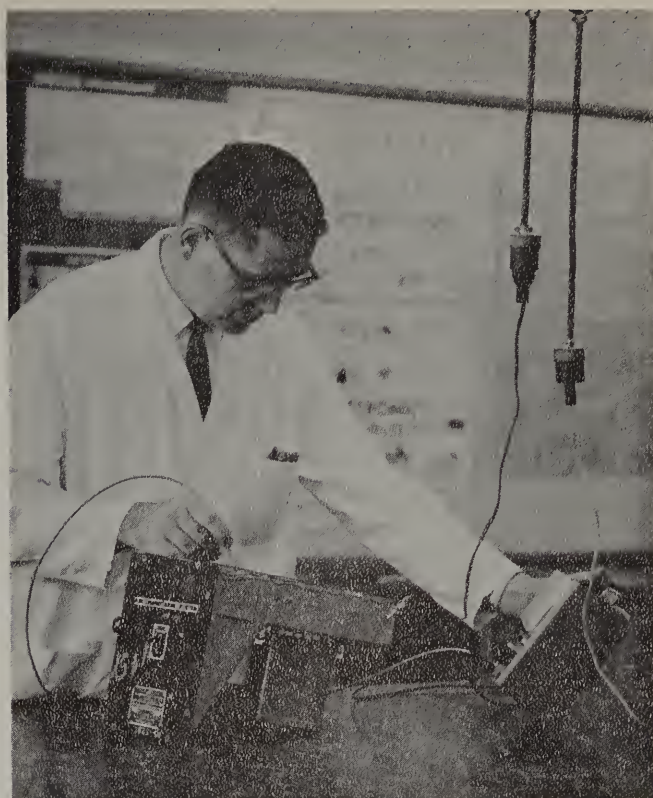

A large assortment of furniture and other wood products are made each year in wood shop. Mr. John Trask taught these classes designed to give a boy the ability to fashion out of wood a variety of useful items.

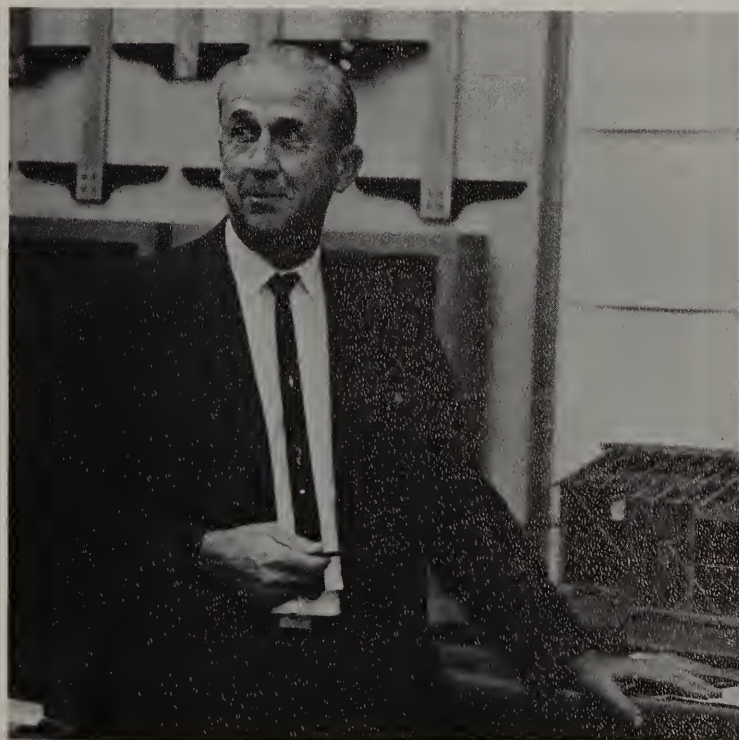

Industrial Arts classes offer training in a variety of skills.

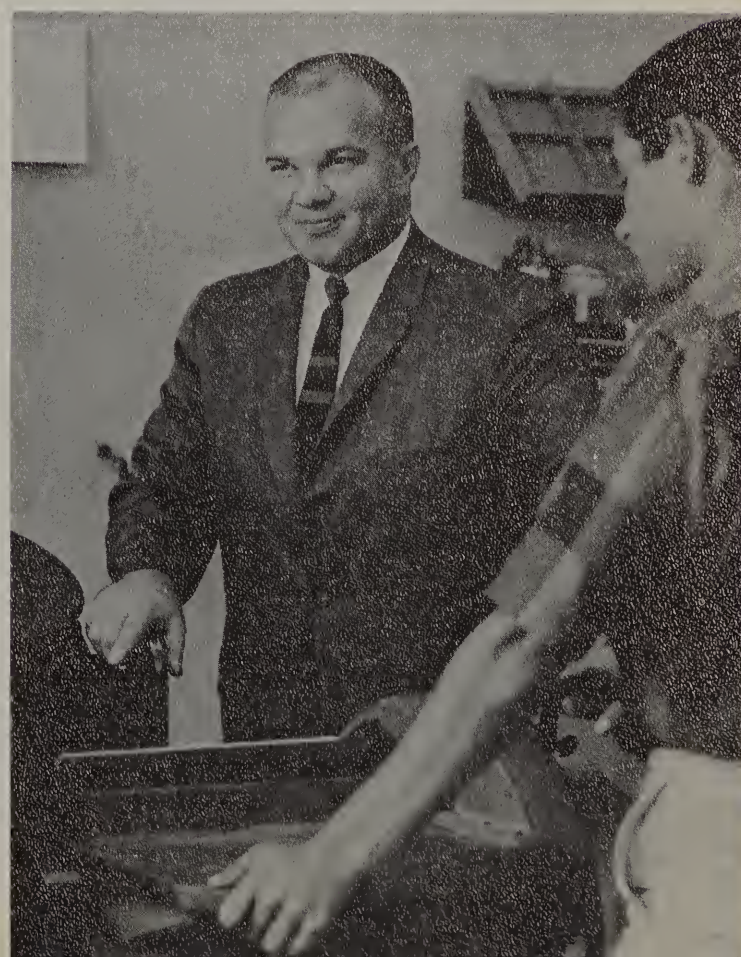

Invaluable Skills

Mr. Ronald Mahoney, new at Hoover this year, taught Electronics 1-2 and 3-4. He was in charge of the public address system and was sponsor of the Electronics Club.

Architectural Drafting 3-4 and Mechanical Drawing 1-2 were taught by Mr. Victor Hoffert.

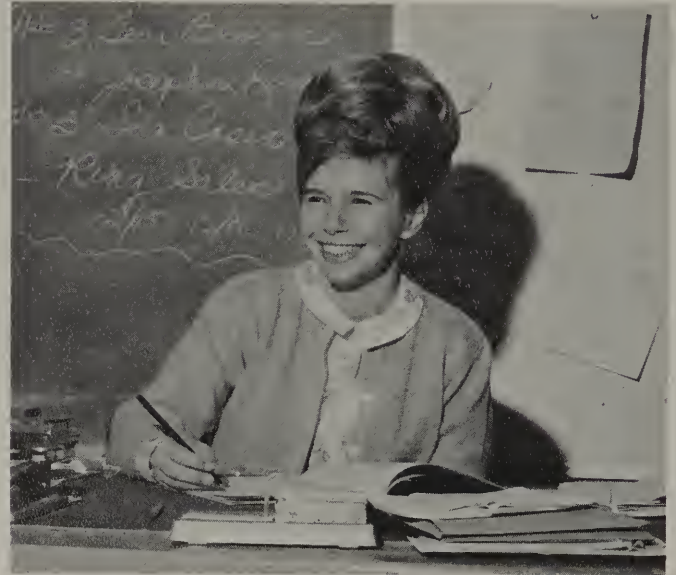

Popular with the graphic art students was Mr. R. Hampel. As sponsor of the Booster and Goal Post Clubs, Mr. Hampel shared in supporting our teams.

Precision and Accuracy Are Stressed

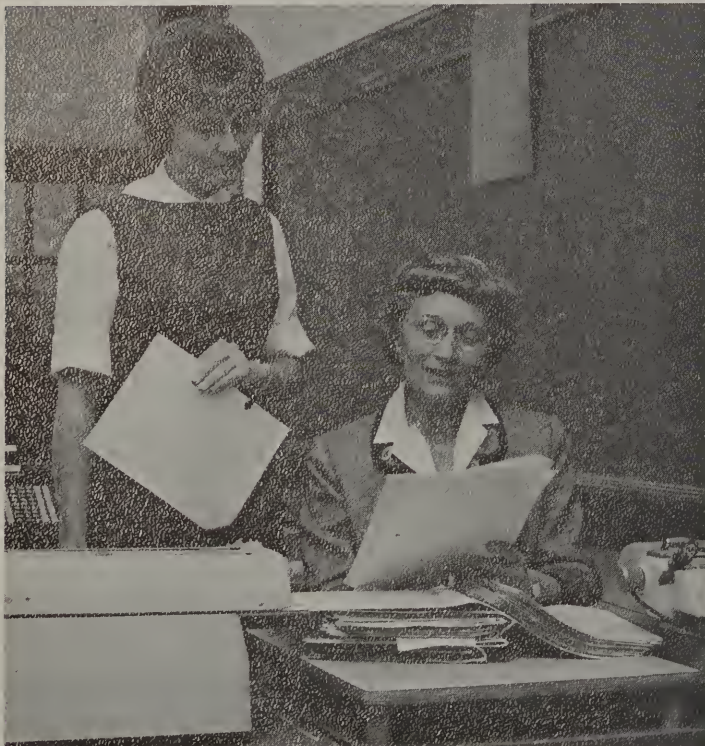

Miss Hazel Martens, left, and Miss Martha Miller, right, consult the department files in search of the latest information to enhance the content of their business courses. Miss Hazel Martens taught record keeping and second year typing. Sponsor of the Ducateers and the Bank of America Awards, Miss Martha Miller also taught first year typing and first and second year shorthand.

New to Hoover's business education department this year was Miss Judith Wheeler. She was responsible for the operation of the Cardinal Campus Shop and several bookkeeping, merchandising, and record keeping classes.

To assist Hoover students to meet the employment challenge, all instruction in the business education department has been divided into three areas: Clerical, Merchandising, and Secretarial. In beginning courses basic business skills are taught; in advanced courses improvements in these skills are emphasized to prepare students for entrance into business occupations. Numerous pieces of equipment have been purchased, and additional guidance and counseling have been made available in our endeavor to prepare students for jobs in the business world.

Two other members of the business education department were Mrs. Bernice Hoyt and Mrs. Mary Sullivan. Mrs. Hoyt taught clerical procedures and office practice while Mrs. Sullivan taught business English, record keeping, and typing. Mrs. Sullivan was also the auditor of the P.T.A. funds.

First and second year typing and first year shorthand were instructed by Mr. Robert Rybiski, the chairman of the business education department.

in Training for Service, Office, and Home

R.O.T.C. cadets, under the supervision of SFC William Gallien, took pride in their various units. Hoover cadets formed the C.I.F. Rifle Team, the Drum and Bugle Corp, the Drill Team, and the Color Guard. These teams often contended in competitions among other schools in the area. Cadets perfected their skills with basic military weapons on Hoover's rifle range, located within the Armory building. About fourteen girls participated in the new Girls' Rifle Team which was organized during the second semester.

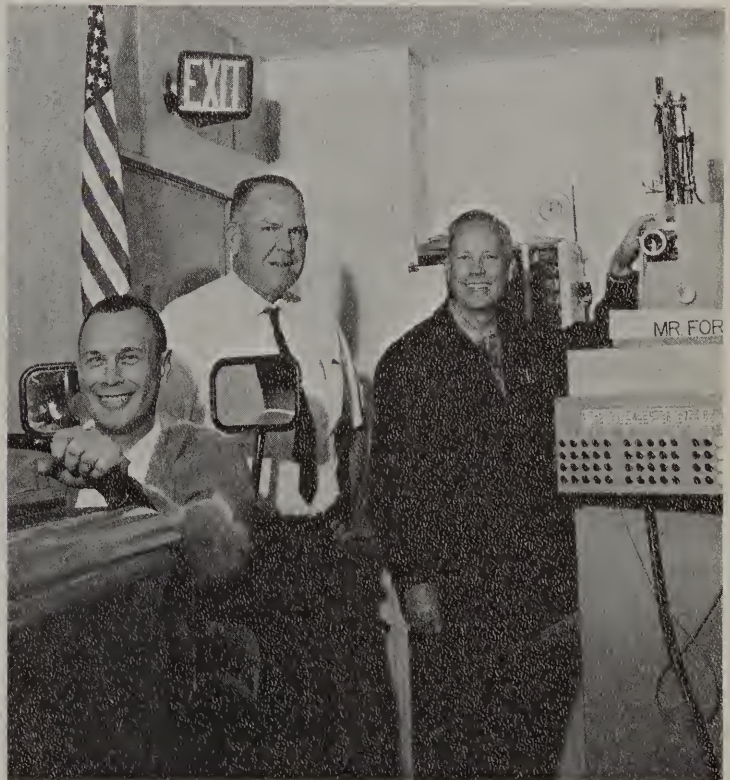

A long green trailer and four 1966 cars appeared at Hoover in February to begin the instruction of good driving to interested students. Five weeks were spent, alternately in the trailer and behind the wheel, teaching students how to drive safely and correctly. Inside the trailer were twelve simulators which helped the student learn the fundamentals of driving without being on the highway. Sixteen films were used to simulate traffic and driving conditions and to test the students' reactions.

Instructor of Hoover's R.O.T.C. was SFC William Gallien. The Cadet Club, C.I.F. Rifle Team, and the Girls' Rifle Team were under his sponsorship.

Loren Breyer and Russell Ormsby were also driver training instructors. Both worked with students in simulated and behind the wheel training. Mr. Ormsby was the coordinator of this program at Hoover and was responsible for scheduling interested students.

Robert Cunningham, Charles Maxwell, and Robert Duckworth-Ford alternated as behind the wheel and simulator instructors. These driving instructors daily taught a large number of students the essentials of safe driving.

Physical fitness, the theme of this school year, was promoted by our girls' sports staff in an increased program of extracurricular activities. Several sports, including tennis, volleyball, basketball, baseball and gymnastics were available four nights a week to interested girls. Members of the modern dance class performed in our annual Christmas program. The city-wide girls' gymnastics meet was held here in April with Hoover supported by several excellent entries from our gymnastics class.

Two points for a basket.

An added emphasis on running is the result of this year's theme, physical fitness. Our boys' physical education department also led mass calisthenics daily. Hoover boys competed against boys from other schools in the San Diego area and frequently took first, second, or third place in these Eastern and Western league contests. A rotating sports program provided a variety of popular sports ranging from track and weight lifting to badminton and volleyball.

Commissioners Exhibit Leadership

The Commissioners attend one of their daily, third period meetings in B-4.

Commissioners' clerk, Nota Gatzolis and secretary, Laurie Damarus.

Our Board of Commissioners prospered this year through the leadership of Commissioner General, Bill Finley. Last year Bill gained knowledge and experience not only by serving as Assistant Commissioner, but by being sports editor of the Cardinal and a member of the Key Club. This year he entered into many of Hoover's activities including the Ecivres and the Cardinal Staff. He further distinguished himself as President of the Key Club. Bill's drive and ambition excluded him from run-of-the-mill leadership to once again exhibit traditional Hoover excellence.

In the second leadership position was Assistant Commissioner General, Dennis Low. Not only did Dennis head the Student Council, but he was helpful in planning various activities for the studentry. He was always ready to render advice and knowledge.

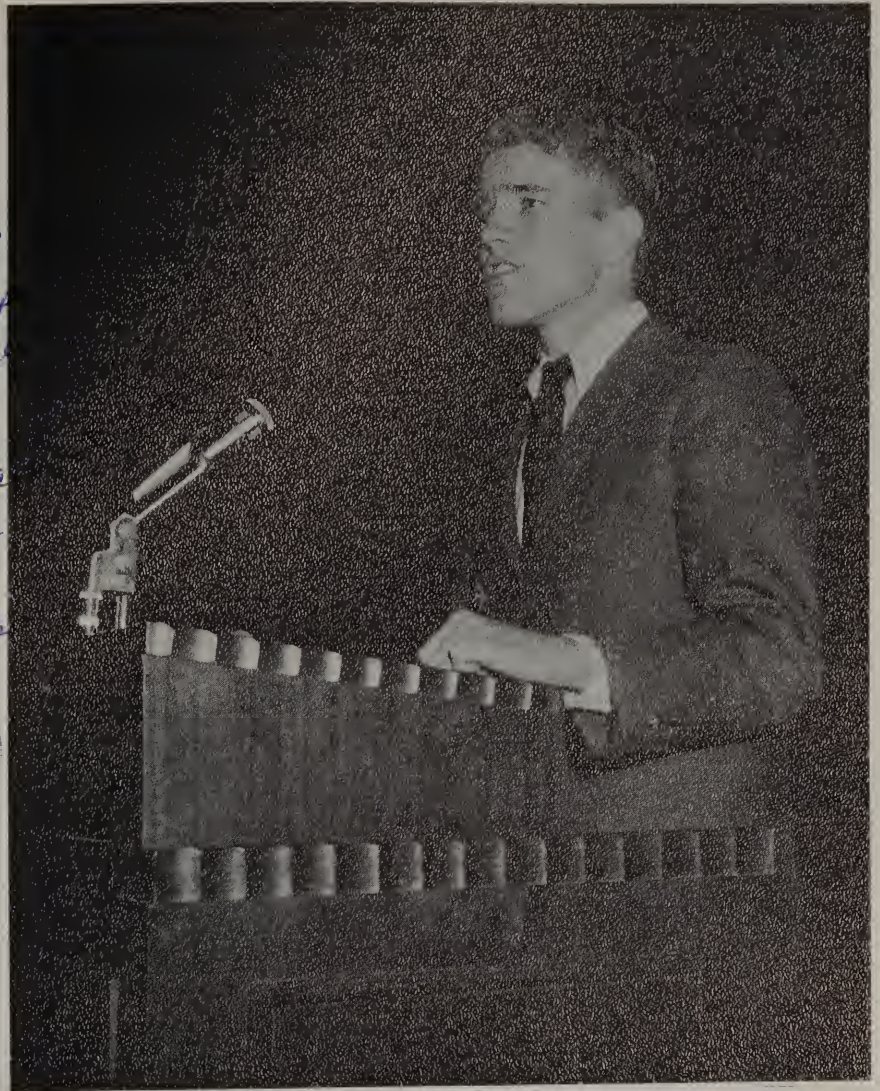

Running errands and responsible for clerical procedures of the Commissioners were their Corresponding Secretary, Laurie Damarus and Clerk, Nota Gatzolis.

Also aiding the Board of Commissioners was their Advisor, Mr. Kenneth Dowell.

With able leadership and enthusiasm, the 1965-'66 Board of Commissioners have come across with our biggest and most rewarding year.

Elected at the end of last year, this fine group has not only aptly organized many of our social events, including the Commissioners Ball, Howdy Hop, and Homecoming, but they have been host to the city-wide Leadership Convention and authors of new rules and regulations for Hoover students.

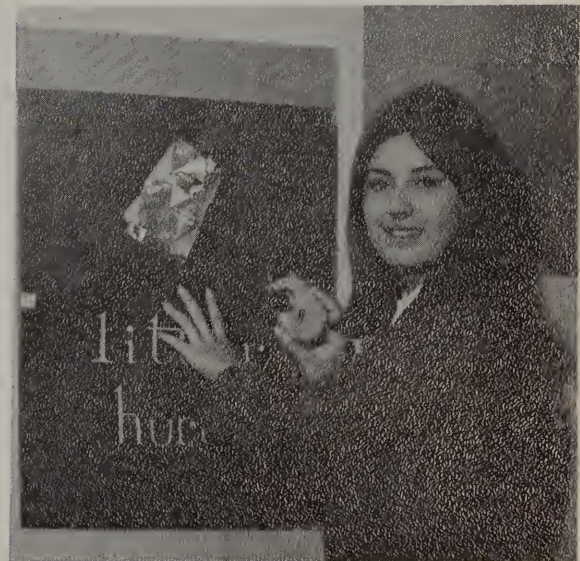

A cooperative attitude shared amongst our Commissioners proved a vital asset to the ASB and sponsoring faculty.

A Sock Hop and Spirit Mingled

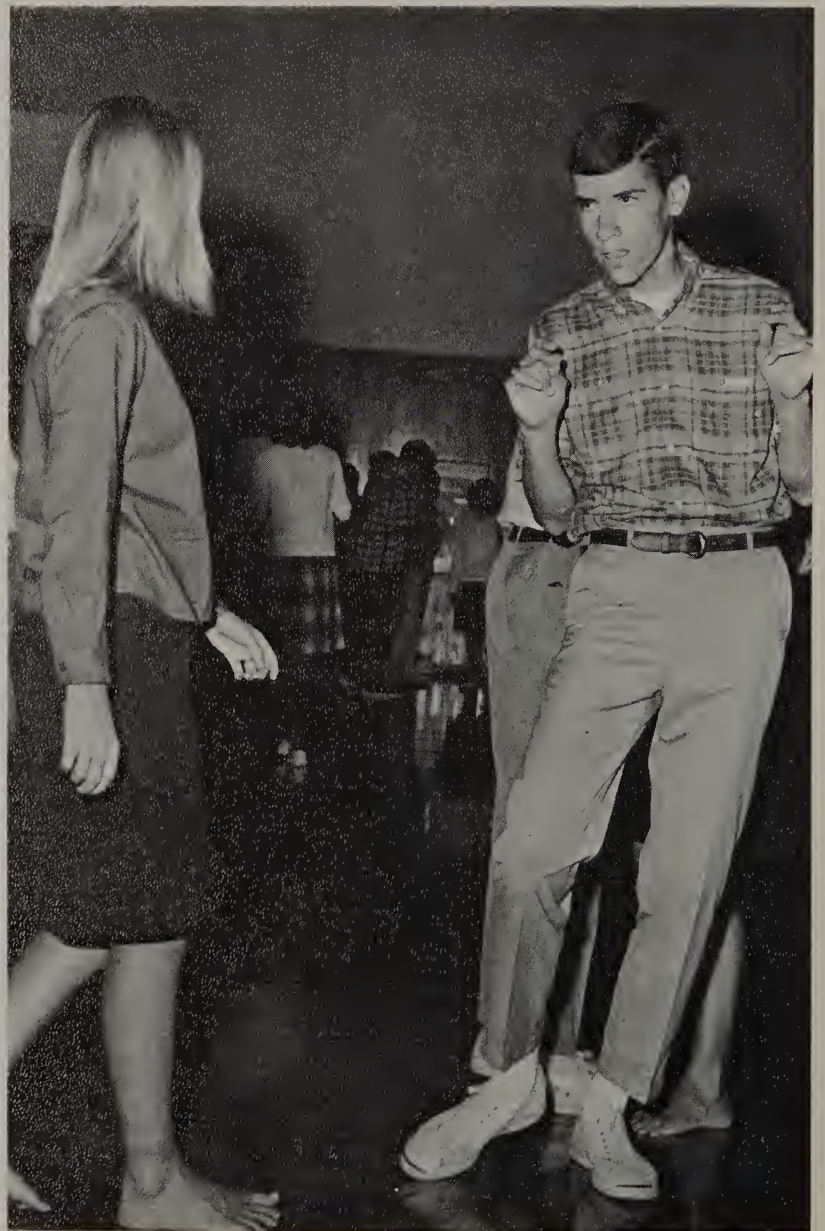

Dancers relax with a slower rhythm.

Sue Jordan, alias Sue Clute, ABC Television star, will have the lead in an hour long program "The Happen-ers." This lucky and talented Hoover Student is singing here with the Nomads, the band at this year's dance.

To welcome is the prime objective of the annual Howdy Hop, bringing together new sophomores and weathered seniors to form a smoother running student body. Due to the newly waxed floors in the girls' gym, this year's dance was a sock hop. The money brought in through ticket sales and other orders of finance were handled by the student body commissioners.

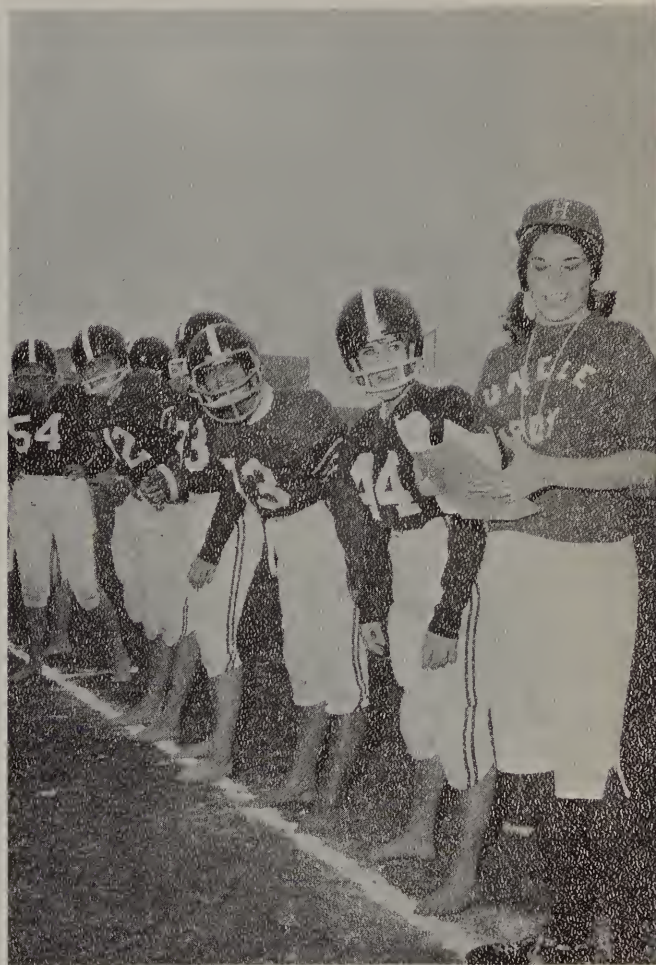

Students expressed themselves in the Jerk, a dance which has developed over the summer.

to Form an Exciting Fall Semester

Promoting spirit and good sportsmanship were the objectives of the many rallies this year. Fourteen in all, they were for the most part planned and coordinated by the commissioner of school spirit, Donna Dupree, and her committee. With the help of the administration, the faculty, and an organized studentry, this year's rallies enjoyed freedom and novelty.

Female football players were the main attraction at the Hoover-Crawford rally. These femme fatals played a mock game between Hoover and Crawford.

Coeds of the Month

Recognition is the main objective in being a Coed of the Month. It gives the Hoover girls the honor they deserve for the time and effort they've spent in the betterment of their school. Although only ten senior girls a year can receive this award, there are many more who deserve it just as much. Because of this girls are picked who are not in the limelight as much as some other.

Each month a different girl is selected in secret by the Cardinal Coed Cabinet. An article about her appears in the school paper and her picture is placed in the bulletin board in the main hall for the remainder of the month.

The annual Dad and Daughter Banquet, sponsored by the Cardinal Coeds, took on a western air with this old-fashioned square dance.

Outstanding is the adjective to describe the Hoover Coeds this years. Their appearance, actions and school service has never been topped. The girls' interest in their organization, the Cardinal Coeds, has improved over the years. This is shown by the success of the Cardinal Coeds' service projects, sales and activities.

Appearances have also changed with the different fads and styles, but Hoover girls have always shown good taste in their appearance. They have added something to the student body which can not be improved upon. The 1966 DIAS CARDINALES dedicates these two pages as a tribute to the outstanding Hoover Coeds.

Song and Cheer Leaders Promote Spirit

Sweet victory makes everyone happy, as shown with triumphant singing of the alma mater.

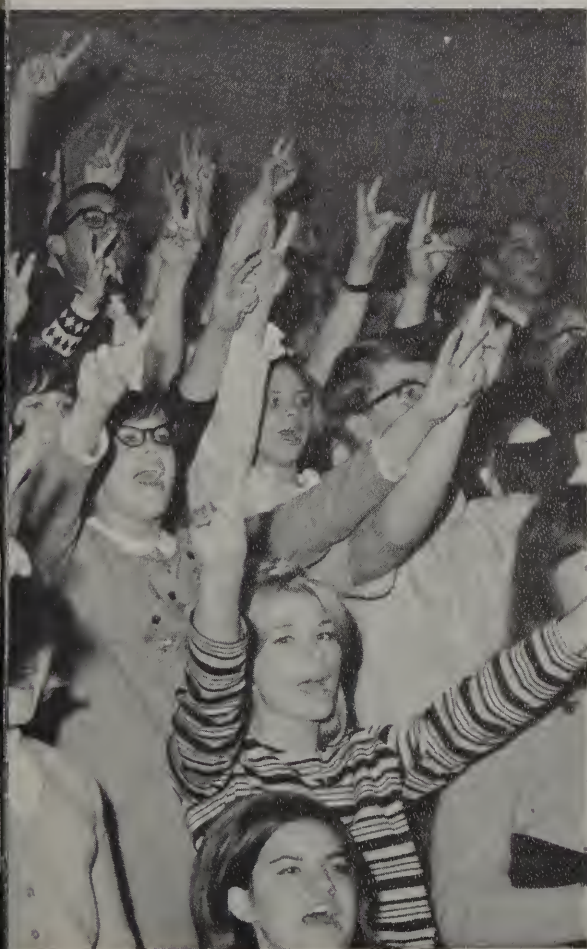

We want a, we want a, we want a touchdown," chants the Booster Club, giving our team the extra "oomph" needed to win. Belonging to the Booster Club, however, meant more than just boosting the team. It meant that with the mere fifteen cents it took to get a club card, one was entitled to the best seats in the stadium. It meant school service of a very important nature. Being a member of our three-year-old "H" was another advantage the card holder had.

at Hoover's Many Exciting Activities

Pep and spirit radiated from our 1965-'66 song and cheer leaders. Our cheerleaders, led by Mike Ninich, were Bill Philbin and Mike Doyle. The songleaders, led by Darlene Stevens, were Karen Husted, Lydia Bryant, Pam Hodson and Donna Keeley.

Also of great importance to this year's spirit were our peppy mascots, Ernie Orton and Linda Ream. They graced the sidelines with just enough effervescence to "keep the pot boiling."

Mascots Linda Ream and Ernie Orton, along with the song and cheerleaders were chosen last year on the basis of ability, popularity and school spirit. Here the mascots are shown adding their usual spirit to the Clairemont game.

Returning Alumni Enjoy Hoover's

Big Tom Campbell snags another one to spirit Hoover's team against Lincoln.

Hoover's thirty-second annual Homecoming was held on October 29, 1965. Honored were the years 1935, '45, and '55.

A traditional pep rally held that afternoon related stories of the respective classes with the help of a computer. Then, with great expectation, students and alumni viewed our homecoming court; this year's girls with personality and beauty were Seniors Carmen Alcove, Diane Cantos, and Donna Morebello, Junior attendant Beverly Ward, and Sophomore attendant Linda Heckler.

The night game against Lincoln, although it was very exciting, was a great disappointment with a losing score of 13-0.

After the game, alumni and students attended the homecoming dance in the boys' gym featuring the Nomads.

Alumni and students enjoy a genuine 21% fewer cavity Hoover yell!

Curious Savage: A Fall Treat

"How could we know the bonds were in the teddy-bear?"

64 "Sometimes relations should be put in seclusion instead of the patients."

Presented on December second and third as an activity to give the advanced drama students a means of expression, Curious Savage lived up to its purpose and much more.

Curious Savage was written by John Patrick and directed by John F. Smith, with Pam Simmons as student director. Much time and effort was involved in the production. The play in its entirety was handled by the advanced drama class, who practiced faithfully every day for eight weeks.

Curious Savage was not only hilariously funny but poignantly satirical. Our society was ridiculed for placing an eccentric woman in an insane asylum. She had established a fund for people with a desperate need to be foolish.

The Glory of Tradition Was Expressed at

The entire cast came on stage for a most dramatic ending in the traditional Hallelujah Chorus.

Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer, as presented by our modern dance class.

This year's Christmas assembly was planned by Mr. Gary Stollsteimer and staged by over three hundred members of our student body. The many beautiful songs and instrumental pieces were the combined efforts of our choirs, orchestra, ensemble and bell choir. A representation of "Rudolf, the Red Nosed Reindeer" was given by the girls' modern dance class. The program was concluded with all the choirs singing the traditional "Hallelujah Chorus."

On December 19th the program was presented again in Balboa Park for the public. This performance was televised on the news at a later date.

Christmas

The orchestra (foreground) and the performers on the stage made everyone feel the coming of Christmas.

Our ensemble rejoiced with a spiritual song called "Shepherds Quickly Wake." The girls wearing their attractive red dresses and the boys in their handsome suits with the red vests, sang in their always pleasant voices.

The Joys of Our "Winter Fantasy"

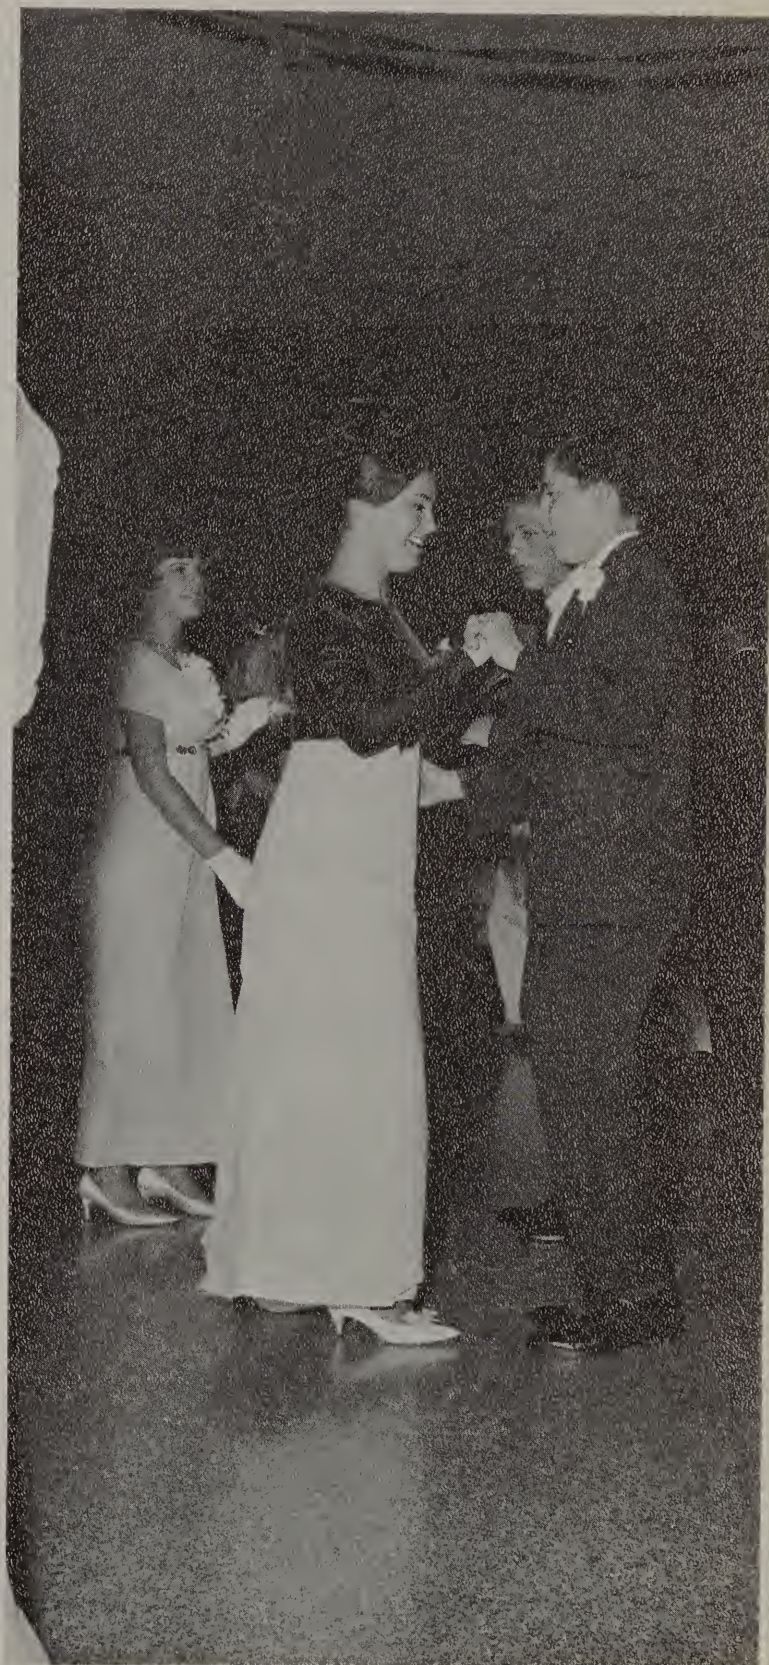

Our most sparkling event of the year, the Commissioner's Ball, was held on December 10, 1965 in the Caribbean Room of the El Cortez Hotel.

One of the two dances held off campus, the Commissioner's Ball was sponsored by the Board of Commissioners with Dennis Low, Assistant Commissioner General, and Tony Koutris, Commissioner of Finance, in charge. The atmosphere was beautiful with decorations of silver and blue, reminding us of a winter setting.

Adding to the mistletoe charm was Danny Hale and his orchestra.

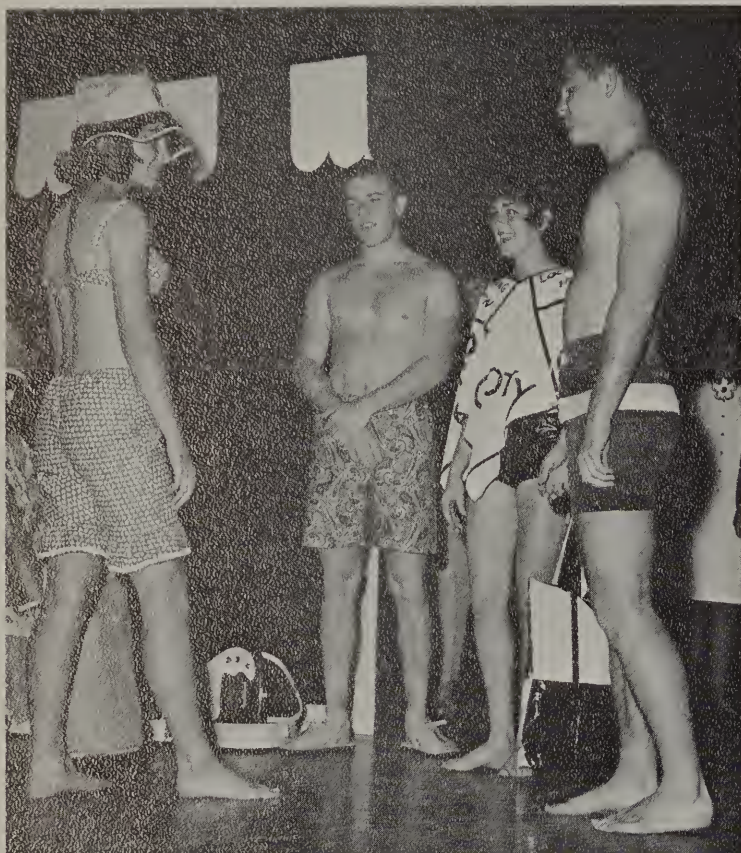

The Hoover students viewed Danny Hale's band through a maze of packages for needy children.

We could have danced all night!

Spring—A World of Fashion and

La Donna Reading seems to have some admirers as she shows one of the many cute bathing suits from Marci's.

With spring comes sunny days and restless students. The students of Hoover like to show how welcome this season is by wearing their bright, colorful new clothes.

A fashion show assembly was held featuring clothes from Marci's and Dan Morris. Senior boys and girls modeled many different types of beach attire, sports clothes, evening dresses and suits.

Later in the program Miss Dirndl and Mr. Esquire were presented. Miss Dirndl, Kathy Petrich received recognition for displaying talent in sewing with a dress she made and modeled in the competition that morning. Mr. Esquire, Pepe Siniard was elected out of five contenders chosen by the student body for dress and good looks.

Rivalry Fun With Basketball

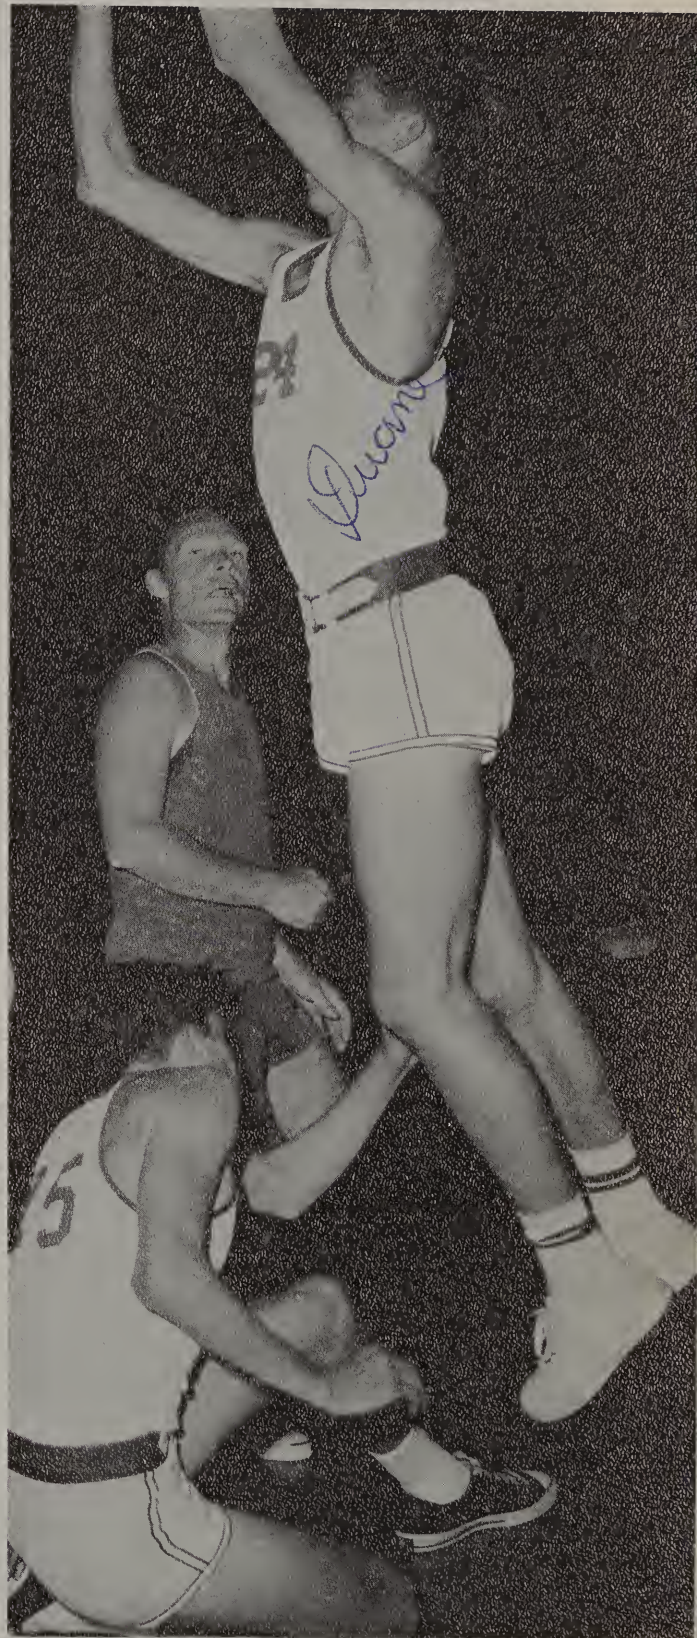

Mr. Vinson and Coach Engle come to the rescue as the seniors and faculty have a pile-up in the middle of the game.

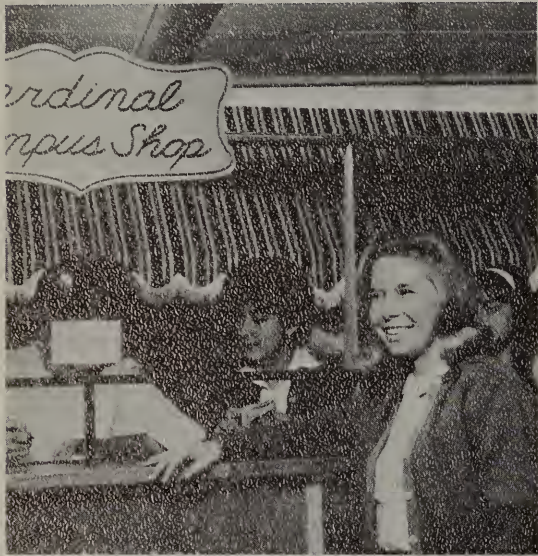

The biggest farce of the year, our Senior-Faculty basketball game, was held March 10 in the boys' gym. Under the watchful eyes of an almost capacity crowd, the "strong" and "lively" faculty held the lead for an undeserved 46-38 victory over the honorable and understanding seniors. The seniors watched in awe as Coach Roy Engle, whom we weren't surprised to see standing on a senior's toe in a toss-up, refereed for the faculty, while Dan Gephart did the honors for the seniors.

Alan Dwyer led the cheering crowd in verbal notes of confidence for the faculty, but was out-shouted by the magnificence of the senior cheering section, under the direction of Lorenzo Clark.

Mr. Nordstrom seems to be wondering what on earth Duane McPheters is doing up so high, as he makes one of the seniors' well-deserved baskets.

High White Boots, the Paisley and Miss Wheeler is sponsor of the Campus Shop this year. She, with the help of bookkeeper (background): Penny Daily, Nancy D'Agosta, Billie Foster, kept the shop running smoothly—Not pictured are Bruce Wilson and Pat Lawton.

Campus Shop workers Susie Johnston, Alex Walker, and manager, Ken Hilliker.

In its second year the Campus Shop was under the charge of Miss Wheeler. Volunteers from her merchandising class ran the shop during both lunches. These students and the job they did made it much easier for Hoover students to obtain last minute school supplies and tickets for various activities.

The Campus has combined the various duties of the business office, selling tickets, and a semi-stationary store, carrying pencils, paper, notebooks, staplers and hole punchers. The Campus Shop has also helped our school spirit by selling Cardinal birds, key chains, beanies, shakers and yearbooks.

Students flocked to the Campus Shop in need of pencils, paper, and tickets to various school events.

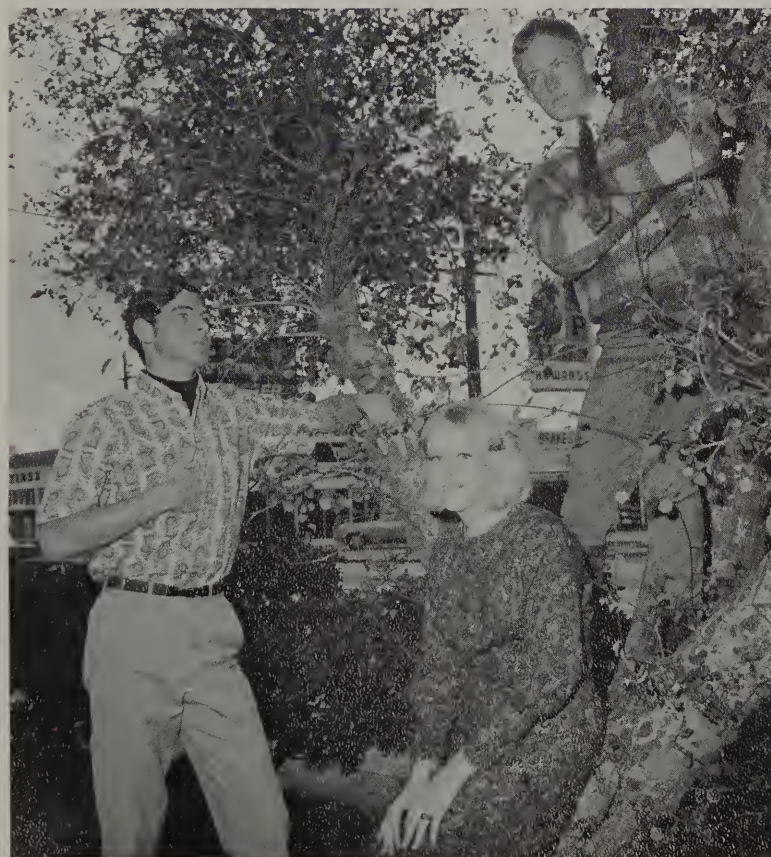

Total Looks Were Fads This Year

"The long and the short of it" is demonstrated by these Hoover girls as they show off the varied hair lengths seen this year.

Polka dot shirts, socks and other garments were seen maneuvering their way through the halls.

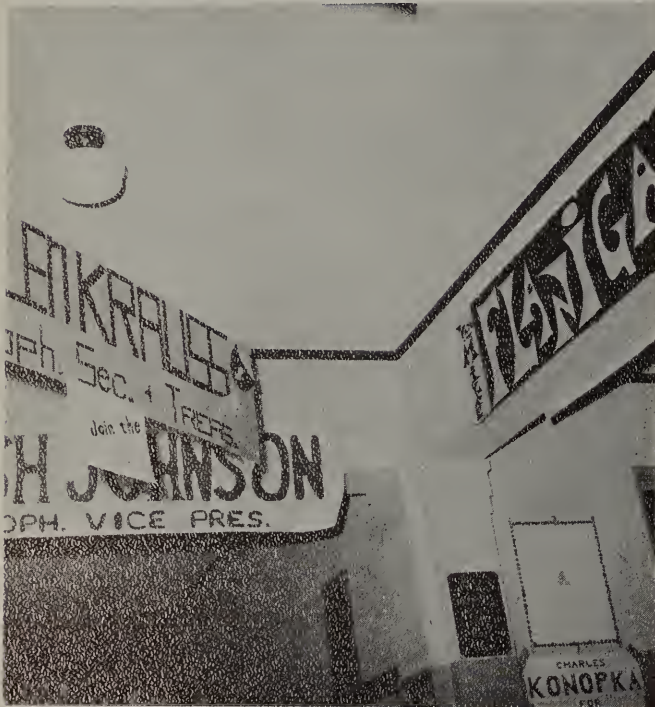

The Paisley look was a big hit around our campus this year. Here Mike Gudmundson, Denise Hudson, and Cal James model some of the latest fashions.

"These boots are made for walking" and that's just what they did when introduced to the girls. Boots were not a new fad, but just as popular as ever.

Students Will Always Remember

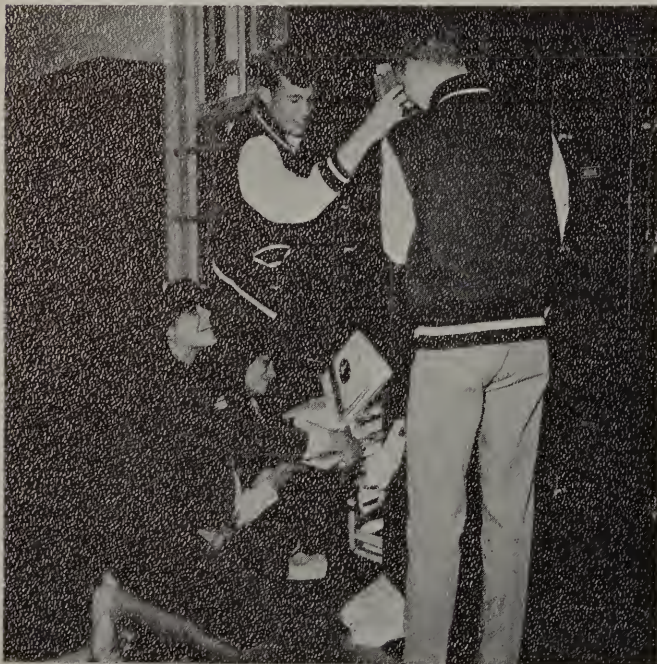

Posters were seen from one end of the halls to the other, from the top floor to the bottom, during class elections this year. These are just a few 'as seen from Kats Corner.

Highland Avenue at 1:30 is a busy place. For quite a few students this is the end of their school day, and they start on their way home.

We will look back on our past years at Hoover with fond memories; always remembering the crowded halls, the many tests, and all the extra-curricular activities we participated in. To these memories the 1966 DIAS CARDINALES dedicates this and the following page.

Cleaning the locker or adding to the mess! No one will ever know, as these Hooverites plow through the mad jumble of books and papers.

A familiar sight at our football games this year: the song and cheerleaders add their traditional spirit to the kickoff.

The Hard Study and the 2:30 Bell

"All right, you can have a bite."

A study hall? These people are studying hard, but they better watch it because those elbows might give out.

Rain, rain go away, was the thought of most Hoover students during the heavy downpour San Diego received during December and January this year.

Ten minutes after the 2:30 bell and no one to be seen.

Sports Symbolizes a Lifelong Tradition

Capturing trophies, winning acclaim, and keeping with the Hoover tradition of sportsmanship was an essential of this year's athletic program. Through sports we develop our talents and our characters.

Cards Roll Over Saints in 27-20 Romp

Hoover opened its '65-'66 football season against Kearny's Komets. Hoover's drives failed to materialize. Fighting hard, the Cards went down 22-6. Bouncing back the next week, the Cards thumped the Helix Highlanders 12-6. Hoover came on strong during the second quarter tallying two touchdowns — a one-yard plunge by Jim Curtis and a 60-yd., Nuss-Flisher pass combination. The Scots were driven back by a tough Card defense led by middle-linebacker Alan Dwyer.

With arrows and spears of victory, Hoover routed Clairemont's Chieftains 27-6. Hockervillers capitalized on several Clairemont fumbles and set up fullback Jim Curtis for three touchdowns. October 15 found Hoover playing host to the Madison Warhawks. Hoover took to the air, mainly with the arm of Jim Nuss, to score two touchdowns; John Morstad punched over from the one-yard strips for the other. Ken Sherman's boot seemed to be the deciding factor as the Big Red drove on 21-20. 81

St. Augustine was the next victim on the Cards' list. Hoover exercised control over most of the ball game by scoring heavily in the first half. A Nuss-Duke aerial combination in the third quarter netted the deciding tally. Saints threatened in the last quarter, but were met by a strong red wall. Hoover rolled again with a 27-20 victory. For Homecoming, the Red Birds met the Lincoln Hornets. With a gallant second-quarter effort, the Cards went down fighting 13-0.

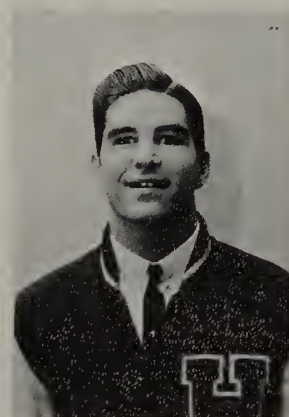

Crawford at Hoover could well be called the game of the year. In the last four minutes of the game, the Colts tied 7-7. With forty seconds left to play, the Cards marched down field on a combination of passes from quarterback Nuss to Gary Flisher and Fred Thompson. With five seconds showing on the clock, Nuss scampered into the end zone for the clinching score. Elation swept through the team and student body as we recaptured the Hoover-Crawford Perpetual Trophy.

Hoover went to Balboa Stadium to pay a visit to an arch foe—San Diego. The Cavers led during the first quarter. In the second quarter a 21-yd. jaunt by John Morstad put the red and white on the score board. Both Cards and Cavemen failed to score during the third quarter. Hoover was back in contention on a Nuss-to-Morstad aerial. Mike Williams hit Gary Flisher with a 13-yard pass which spurred the Cards, but the Cavers were up and luck went their way as Hoover fell, 27-19.

Closing the '65-'66 season, the Cards collided with Morse. A one-yard plunge by Jim Curtis in the first quarter put the Cards in the lead 7-0. But the Tigers exploded in the second and third quarters, and the Cards were able to score again only in the last quarter. With usual bull-headed resistance, the Red Birds bowed 32-13.

Seventh row: Baltzer, Davis, Vigil, McCann, Taylor, Messinger, Matthews, Mngrs. Lawell and Chabrowski.

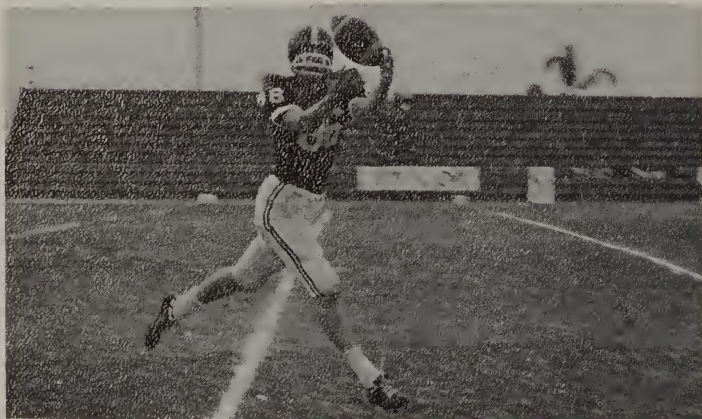

Coach Baranski

Under coaches Finan and Baranski, the '65-'66 Hoover Junior Varsity Football season got under way. Standout for the J. V. was Dana Balzer, a halfback, who shows great promise for the future. Other notables for the Card J. V. were John Phillips, defensive halfback Mike Lanston, and Mark Davis, a quarterback who pulled Hoover through the last part of the season.

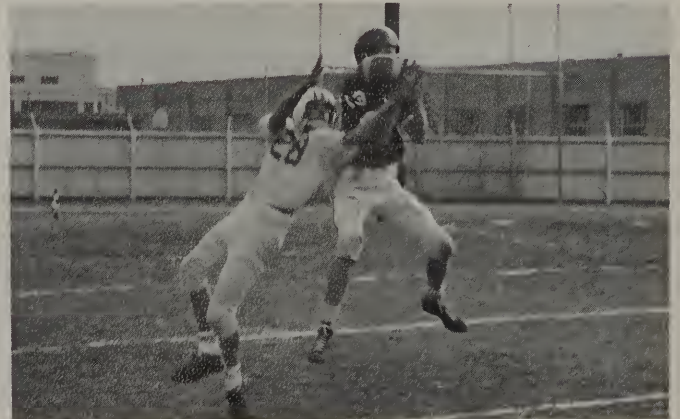

Traditionally, this year's J. V. found experience to be the essence of football. Revealing its potential, the Cardinals rambled over Madison, St. Augustine, and Morse.

Harriers Show Strong Potential

First Row: Dorsch, Knight, Strachen, Garris, Walker, Standnyck.

Second Row: Coach Peeters, Thompson, Ohlsen, Perez, Lewis, Gephart, Elliot.

Guts and sweat are synonymous with Coach Peeter's harriers as they train for a grueling two-mile course. This year's team was paced by Niel Strachen, a junior defeated only twice in dual meets and rated fifth at the Aztec Invitational. Second man for the harriers was a junior, Wayne Garris. Two seniors worthy of mention are Steve Dorsch and Sheldon Stadnyck. Stadnyck was one of the most consistent runners of the season and maintained the number three position.

Coach Peeters

Hoover's solidarity was in no small way strengthened by juniors Larry Gephart, Rich Thompson, John Knight, and sophomore Bob Walker, all demonstrating great potential.

Defeating St. Augustine and Lincoln, the harriers captured two Eastern League wins and posted a 4-6 season. Next year the Cards will benefit from a host of experienced underclassmen from the '65-'66 team. Paced by Strachen and Garris, Hoover can look for excellence during the 1966-67 season.

I think that's me

Work... Sweat Are Needed Ingredients

In his first year as gymnastics coach, Mr. Bartow claimed his boys did an outstanding job. And that they did! Great strength in the upper body is needed for the gymnasts to execute various maneuvers in their respective events. Whether it be the long horse, side horse, parallel bars, or any other of the challenging gymnastic events, strength and agility are the essence. Fortunately, many of the Cards possessed this needed strength as we qualified three gymnasts to the C. I. F. Finals. Qualified were Don Sperber, Mike Sandoval, and Greg Hommas. Don Sperber received the honor of "Most Valuable Gymnast."

Steady now!

First Row: Bowers, Peters, Oyler, Sperber, Bellamy, White, Doyle, Florez, Kresser. Second Row: Coach Bartow, Grantham, Engle, Sandoval, Flanigan, Hommas, Peters, Guthrie, Hill, Locke, Reinicke, Wiggins, Knapp, Redlinger.

Up! Up! Up!

Mike Sandoval, who placed fifth in the rope climb in Eastern League competition, could not compete in the C. I. F. Finals due to medical disqualification. Greg Hommas placed fourth in Eastern League Finals in tumbling, and notable for significant team contribution was Joe White.

Hoover was consistently strong in the tumbling and parallel bars events. Although Crawford has traditionally held the edge in gymnastics, and Morse is a rising power, Coach Bartow indicated that Hoover's gymnastics program has taken on a new dimension of promise.

Cagers Acquire Loop Prominence

Cuenca, Morstad, Humphrey, Nuss, Lyons, Oliver, Windle, McDonald.

Miller, Clark, Williams, Reinke, Gephart, Lewis, Salerno, Coach DeBate, Chu.

Under the guidance of Coach DeBate, the Card Cagers started the 1965-66 basketball season auspiciously. After successful summer league competition, Hoover was talked about as one of the teams to win in the Eastern League. Composing this year's talented quintet were forwards John Oliver and John Lyons. At center was tall Mike Windle. The fast-moving guards were Jim Nuss and Mike Humphrey. Also playing important roles in this year's team were Dave McDonald, Dana Reinke, Dan Gephart, Lorenzo Clark, and Frank Cuenca.

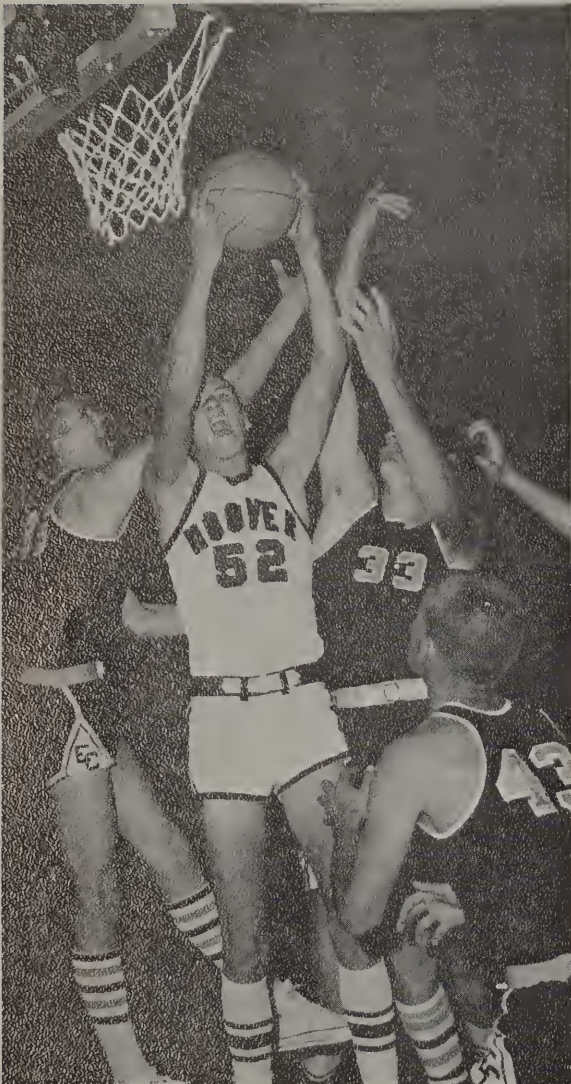

Coach DeBate

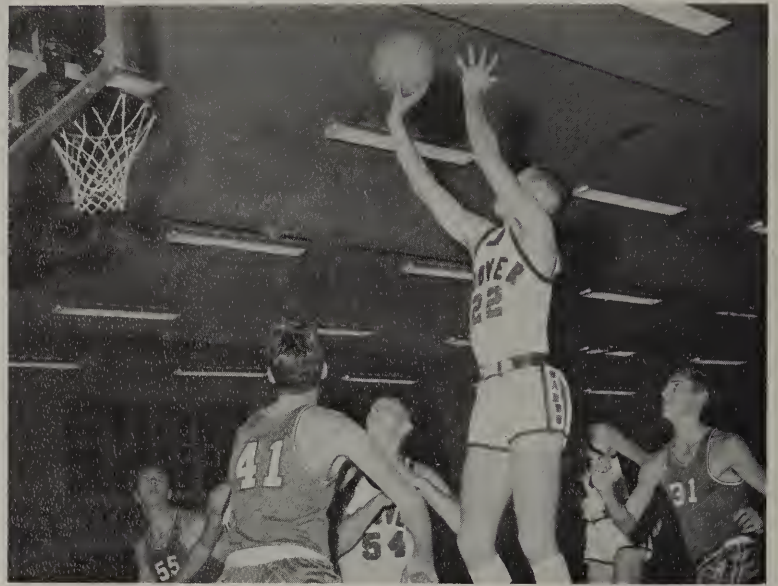

One of Hoover's greatest assets was in the "balance" of its offense. All of the starters averaged in double figures. John Oliver finished with a 15 point average, Mike Windle 14.5, Jim Nuss 11.5, Mike Humphrey 10.3 and Jon Lyons, 10 points per game. Hoover started off on the winning track by winning all of their non-league games except for a close loss to Helix in the final minutes of play. After such a start the redbirds went into the Kiwanis Tournament seeded third.

The Kiwanis Tourney opened by Hoover over-powering Point Loma. Then Hoover nipped Helix and San Diego. Finally, in the championship game at State College, Hoover struck the death blow to Crawford's Tourney hopes. Hockerville edged out the Colts in a 57-56 thriller. Center Mike Wendle and forward Jon Lyons were awarded positions on the All-Tourney Team. As rigorous Eastern League action began, St. Augustine, Lincoln, and Morse fell easy prey to the ball-hawking Cards. The most gratifying victory of the year, next to the Kiwanis Championship victory over Crawford, was the 66-54 drubbing dealt to Crawford again by the same hardened Card team. Hoover finished the season with an over-all record of 19 wins and 7 losses.

J. V. Prepares Varsity Prospects

Coach Baranski

Hoover's Junior Varsity displayed overall team effort during the 1965-66 season. Under Coach Baranski's guidance, the team compiled ten wins and ten losses. The young redbirds were greatly strengthened by juniors Dan Miller, Mike Williams, Saul Klein, and Armando Garcia. Miller, who was sent down from the varsity to gain playing experience, did just that by averaging in double figures for the season. Sophomores who contributed to this fine season were Don Carlson, John Havens, Mike Harrison and Charley Henry. Playing together, the team exhibited poise which leads to victories. With most of these boys returning next year, Hoover's varsity will be benefited by their playing experience while on the Junior Varsity.

Stoffregen, Stephenson, Dwyer, Havens, Browning, Walton, Ward, Cason, Faulk, Coach Warner

Fine individual performances highlighted this year's wrestling team. Under Coach Warner, the team showed tremendous improvement over previous years. With fine fan support at home matches, Hoover demonstrated a desire to win. With seniors Mike Doyle, Ray Walton, Larry Faulk, and Kim Ward leading the way, Hoover took a second place at the Mission Bay Wrestling Tournament and placed eleven men in C.I.F. Also, Mike Doyle, Larry Faulk and Kim Ward placed fourth in their respective weight divisions in the C.I.F. finals.

Coach Warner stated "lack of depth hurt us this year, but next year with most of the boys returning we should be very strong and improve upon this year's record." Next year with Barclay Hill, Doug Thorpe, Mike Flores, Tom Browning, Mel Smith, and Steve Stoffregen returning Hoover should improve this year's record of eight wins and seven losses. Having gained momentum, this year wrestling has taken on new dimensions.

Third Row: Kresser, Tofflemire, Dudley, Martinez, Campbell, Zettel, Shaw, Snowden, Sandoval, Odencrantz. Fourth Row: Hillis, Stearns, Baker.

Coach Murphy

This year's track team was paced mainly by underclassmen. Neil Strachan, a distance man, who set a school record in the two mile run, and Bob Walker, who is developing into one of the county's outstanding milers, led the way in the track events along with Steve Ruff, a sprinter. James King in the hurdle and relay, Tom Campbell in the hurdles, Tom Ohlsen in the 880, Mike Baker in the long jump, Steve McFann in the relay and Pepe Siniard and John Talbot in the 440 made up the rest of the team. Hoover can expect to have a strong contender for League honors next year.

Sorry we didn't get to get together last summer like you wanted but that's the way it fell. Hope you have had lots of fun this year. Good luck

Phillips strides to victory.

Outstanding performances highlighted this year's "B" track squad. Transfer Larry Ruff set a new school record in the shot put of 52' 6". John Phillips, who is only a sophomore, is developing into a fine sprinter and hurdler. Other boys making up the squad were Dan Touchstone, Frank Wilson, Kirk Rosemussen, Steve Todd, Dennis Low, Bob Rogers, John Knight and Bryan Lewis.

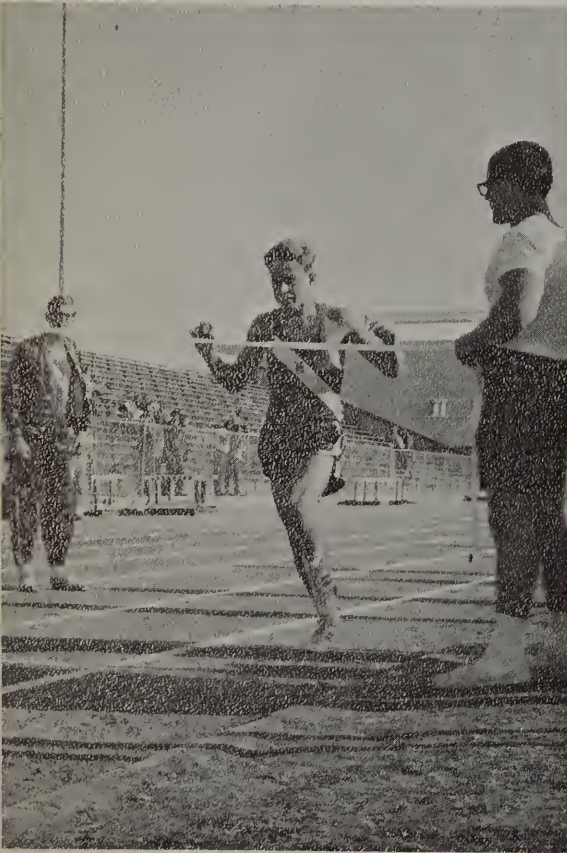

"C" Track Shines in Distance Running

First Row: Wayne, Ramirez, Engle, Angkayan, Peterson. Second Row: Hillis, Ellickson, Strauss, Hundrick, White, Vigil, Herrin.

Third Row: Tyler, Neil, Salas, Lujan, Michaels, Neilsen.

This year's "C" track team had some really outstanding performances. The distance men provided most of the points during the meets. Mike Herrin in the 1320, Arthur Lujan, also in the 1320 and Dan Salas in the 660 will probably move up to the varsity next year thus providing them with much needed depth. Other members of this year's team were Rick Neill, Ron Ellickson, Santos Angkayan, and Mark Strauss.

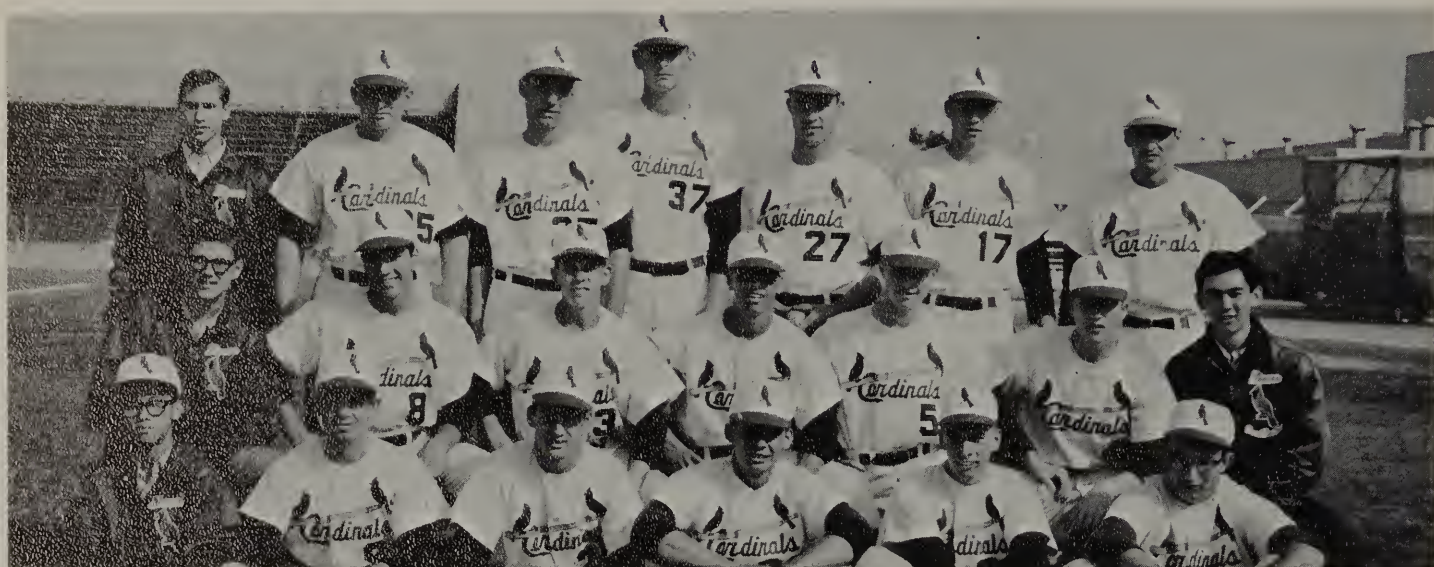

Herrin crosses line at 1320 yd. finish.

Thinclads try for hurdles records.

Hoover's baseball team this year could be best described as one which was building for the future. With only four seniors on the entire squad, Coach Bartow had to play inexperienced underclassmen at vital positions. Ken Bangsberg was the top pitcher, having thrown a no-hitter against Saints. Rick Baker, who is probably one of the better catchers in the league, held down the catching chores. Scott Lee had a 2-0 record as pitcher.

Coach Bartow

John Grantham, who was used mainly in relief, had a string of 15 scoreless innings pitched. Next year Dana Baltzer, Andy Morgan, John Morstad, Bob Schry, Mike Ball, Paul Brunner, and Gary Stock all return making the future very promising. Coach Bartow said that the inconsistency of the teams hitting cost them many games. This year's team, however, was very good defensively. With many returning lettermen, 1967 could be a banner year at Hoover for baseball.

Stoffregen hustles back to first.

Loaded with good varsity prospects and a keen desire to win," describes Coach Warner of this year's outstanding Junior Varsity baseball team. With hitters like Bill Jacobson, Steve Stoffregen, and George Capalletti, and outstanding pitching by Quinones, Epstein, and Harrison, the team is currently tied for first place in the rugged Eastern League. Coach Warner stated that depth in material is one of the key reasons for the team's winning habit. With this good crop of sophomore boys coming up next year to the varsity level, Hoover can expect to have a very solid contender for Eastern League honors in future years.

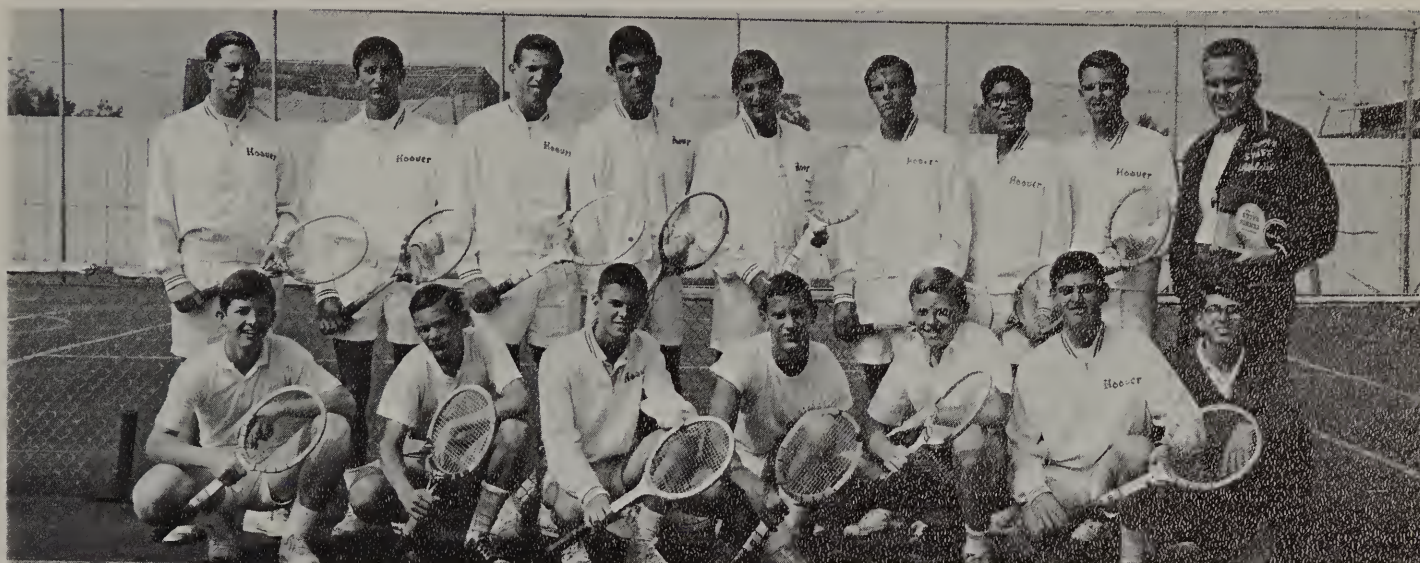

Jacobson swings with power to spare.

Second Row: Forbes, Amador, Gruner, Henning, Whalen, Deuel, Ng, VanBibber.

Amador stretches to return serve.

As defending Eastern League champs this year's team is rebuilding. Returning lettermen Larry Amador, Mike Whalen, Arnold Grunner, and George Forbes carried much of the load for this year's netters. Larry Amador, who ranks as one of the city's finest and one of the counties top players was the mainstay of this year's squad. Mike Whalen and George Forbes made up the doubles team. Coach Whitehead stated, "We have done pretty well, considering we lost four three year lettermen. We also switched from an eight man to a twelve man squad."

Coach Whitehead

Inexperience Hinders Cardinal Golfers

Hoxel, Lunn, T. Richardson, Windle, Stromberg, M. Richardson, Shelton, Daniel, Gaudur.

This years "duffers" were plagued by inexperience. With only two returning lettermen, the season had many disappointments. Dave Hoxel and Tom Richardson, the only returning lettermen, led the way with many outstanding rounds. Coach Dowell expressed an interest and desire that more boys at Hoover would take an interest in golf and develop their game.

Hoxel drives with vigor.

Swimmers, Stroke Toward Victory

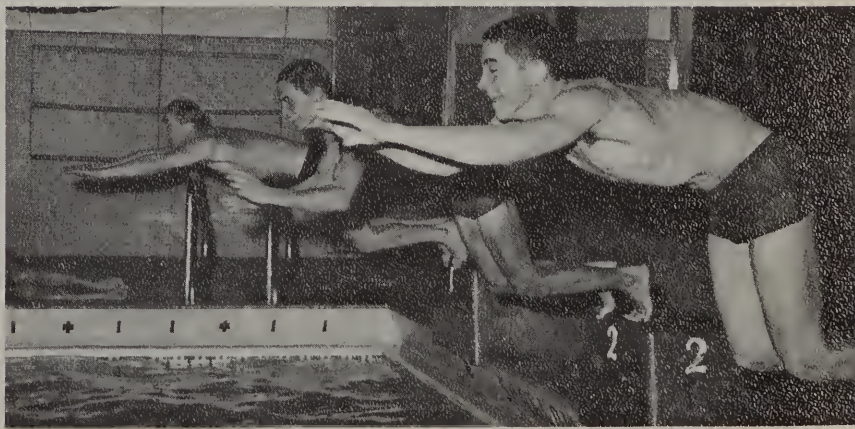

First Row: Creighton, Markus, Sutton, Kramer, Greth, Parkhurst, Sauerbrier.

Second Row: Hommas, White, Lawless, Ossola, Dyer, Walker, Coach Finan.

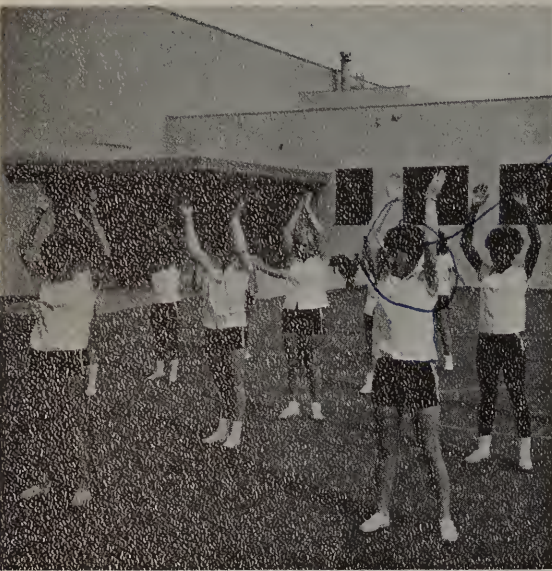

Hommas performs off of spring board.

This year's swimming team, according to Coach Finan, could be termed as one of Hoover's best. With such fine swimmers as Karl Kramer in the butterfly, John Creighton in the freestyle, Larry Faulk in the breaststroke, and Greg Sutton in the backstroke, provided Hoover with some of the city's finest swimmers. Greg Hommas held down the top diving spot. Last year he was 5th in the city and this year should be contending for C.I.F. honors. According to Coach Finan, this year's relay team of Kramer, Creighton, Faulk, and Sutton should challenge for C.I.F. honors, also. So far, this year, Hoover has lost only two meets.

"They're off!"

Girls' Intramurals Develops Talent...

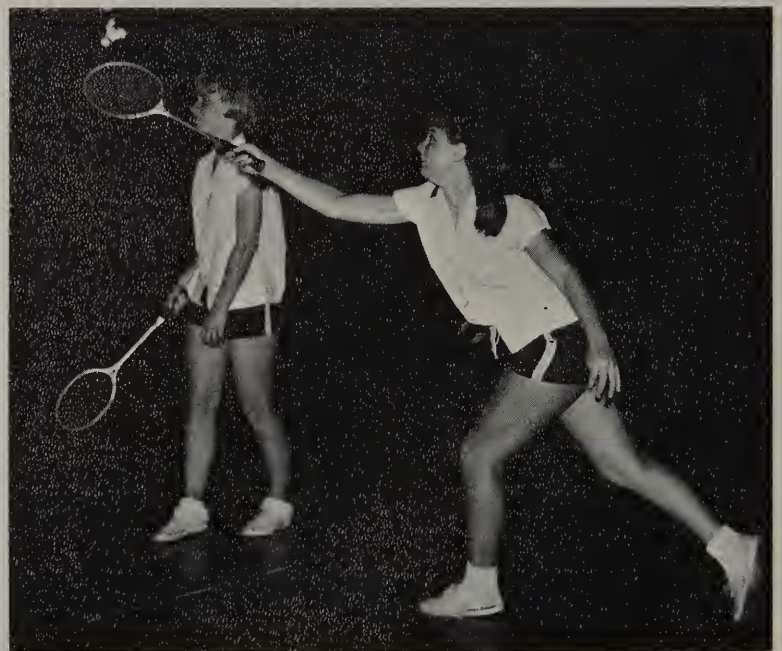

"H—O—O—V—E—R!"

Under the guidance of Miss Minshall, over five hundred girls participated in the Girls' Intramural sports program. Among the sports were volleyball, volley tennis, field hockey, and basketball. The girls were able to participate in a sport almost everyday after school. Hoover had the privilege of hosting a Sports Day, which brought together girls from most of the city schools. Modern dance was another activity explored by the program. Highlighting the year was the Eastern Zone gymnastics finals on April 20th.

President of Girls' Intramurals was Julie Sanchez. Leslie Becker and Bonita Ponder were Vice-President and Secretary-Treasurer, respectively.

Where is your time card? The deadline is tomorrow! I need four pictures right away! Sound odd? Not to the twenty members of the 1966 Dias Cardinales staff. Every day during third period loud, frantic noises could be heard by anyone daring to venture near the club room. No, it was not the whooping of wild Indians, merely a group of students producing the best yearbook Hoover has ever seen. Many long, tedious hours were spent in creating a book that captured the true life of Hoover High.

Under the supervision of Audrey Wittner, editor-in-chief, new and unique ideas were applied to maintain a high rated annual. A very sincere "thank-you" goes to Mr. Fred Jappe, advisor. With much patience and hard work, Mr. Jappe deserves the credit for making the 1966 Dias Cardinales the excellent yearbook that it is.

True to Hoover tradition, it is one of the best high school papers in southern California and presents news features bi-monthly. Hooverites turned to their award-winning paper for upcoming school events, excellent editorials, sports write-ups, and the latest in fashion fads. "Kats Korner" became a most controversial column, its subjects ranging from the latest Hoover party to the war in Viet Nam. Led by Mr. Lester Tokars and editor-in-chief Hazel Rose, this year's Cardinal maintained a tradition future classes will strive to attain. In the spring the Cardinal staff attended the annual Journalism Day held at San Diego State College. As always, Hoover came out a winner.

Ecivres

Unselfish service to school and community constitute reasons for being chosen an Ecivre. During the past year, this group landscaped the grounds of Angels Unaware, caroled for elderly shut-ins, sponsored the immensely popular Charles King assembly, and sold pep ribbons to promote school spirit. The Ecivres also held two annual banquets; one in the Fall, given by the Ecivres for their parents, and one in Spring, with the parents as hosts. The Ecivres were selected by the faculty for their contributions to and participation in activities during their underclass years. The honor of Ecivres membership is bestowed upon ten senior boys and ten senior girls. Also included as honorary members are our exchange students. The basis for membership selection and the objectives of this honorary organization are found in the reverse spelling of their name—Service.

and Community Service by These Clubs

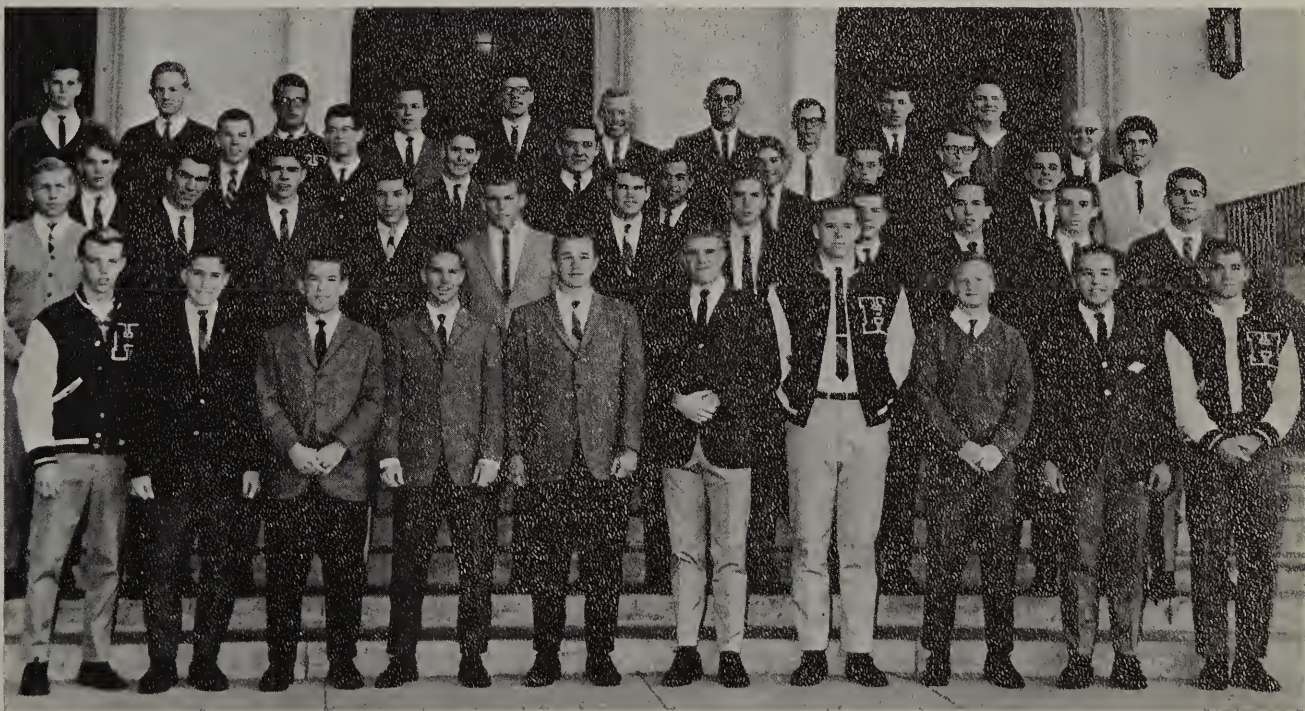

Key Club

“Oh, if I eat another bite, I’ll burst!” This is typical of the Hoover Key Club which frequently meets at the Campus Chuck Wagon. Comprised of outstanding Hoover boys with big appetites, it would seem as though little is accomplished by this organization except eating. However, the Key Club is one of the most active groups on campus. Sponsored by the East San Diego Chapter of Kiwanis International, the members strive for school, as well as community service. Under the supervision of Mr. W. B. Allen, Hoover’s Key Club worked for the Tijuana orphanage, as ushers for the Kiwanis Basketball Tournament, and provided swimming therapy for the county Epilepsy Society. The members also served as sergeant-at-arms for the annual nominating convention. As always, the Hoover Key Club continued to be a true asset to our school.

Activities and Organized New Ones

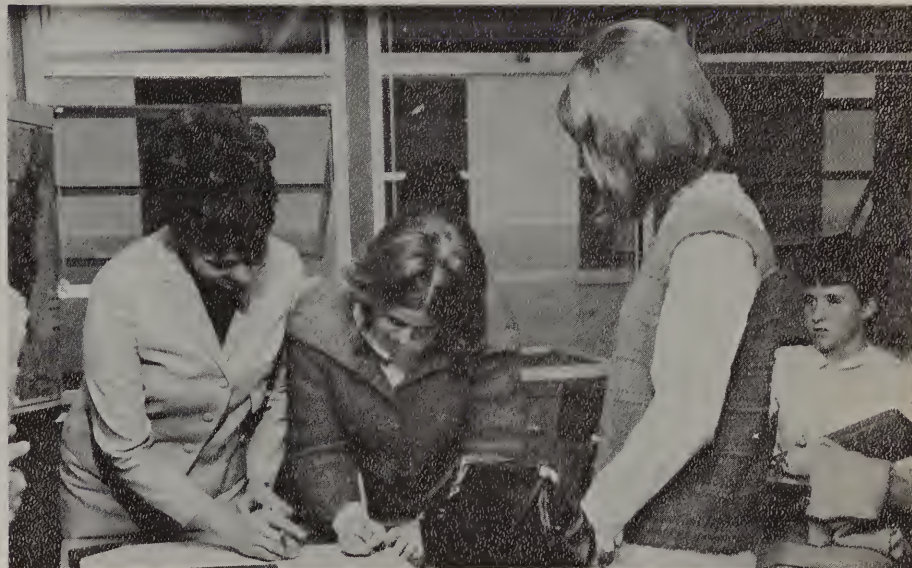

Good luck Sharon in the future. Be a good girl. ok Jim Rep

This year's activities, which included the Big and Little Sister Party, Dad and Daughter Dinner, and Mother and Daughter Tea, were all a big success for the Cardinal Co-eds. With lively spirit and enthusiasm, the Cardinal Co-ed Cabinet and Council worked very hard to make this the best year.

The Girls' League sponsored the Christmas Mailboxes and the money earned was used for a spring service project. Couples attending the Commissioner's Ball were asked to provide a small toy to be donated to a home for mentally handicapped children.

The Cardinal Co-ed Council worked closely with the Cabinet. One representative from each gym class comprised the Cardinal Co-ed Council. Monthly meetings were held so that all Hoover girls were kept up-to-date on Co-ed activities.

Cardinal Co-eds also select the "Co-ed of the Month," chosen on the basis of her scholarship, citizenship, school service and participation.

Co-Ed representatives were eager to volunteer their help for the Sunnyside Home service project. They gave their time by scrubbing floors, making beds, washing walls, watching the children, and even digging ditches.

Dads and daughters filed in to the cafeteria for an evening of western fun at the annual Dad and Daughter Dinner. The "Double D Dinner" featured barbecued food, lively entertainment, and square dancing.

Frances Henderson talks with Hooverites about her country and her impressions of America at the annual AFS reception

Two foreign exchange students were welcomed at Hoover this year, in continuance of a six-year tradition. Frances Henderson from Scotland and Michele Ossola from Italy proved to be the finest of Hooverites and brought honor to their school thusly.

As one of the most active clubs on campus, the American Field Service sponsored a wide variety of sales and activities. Two foreign student receptions were provided to acquaint Hoover students and the entire community with our guests from abroad. A trip to Disneyland, an international dinner, two assemblies and a movie to raise funds for next year's exchange program were additionally sponsored by the AFS. For the first time friendship bonds were sold by the AFS. These bonds contained photographs and a short story of the two exchange students. They proved to be very popular with the student body.

and Fellowship, Unity and Peace

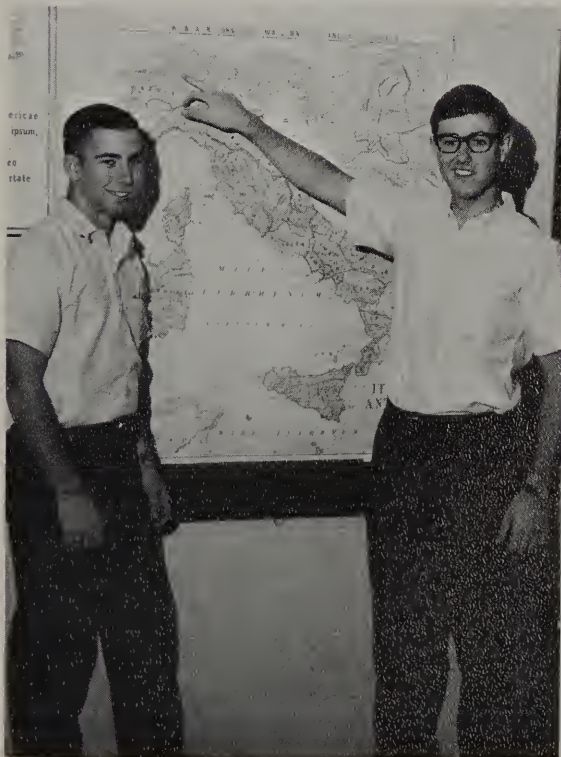

Bubbling personality and a friendly smile are only two wonderful characteristics of Frances Henderson, this year's exchange student from Edinburgh, Scotland. She stayed with Lydia and Hattie Bryant. Senior Art Studio was her favorite class and upon returning to Edinburgh she plans to pursue a career as an art teacher.

Every minute of her American adventure was a busy one. While not studying, attending club meetings or giving speeches took up the remainder of Frances' hectic schedule. She was an active member of the American Field Service, Tennis Club, Ecivres, and the Student Council. Her participation in school activities led to the honor of being chosen "Cardinal Co-ed of the Month."

Frances wished to say to every Hoover student, "I have been very happy this year. You have all made me feel a part of the life and traditions of Hoover High."

Hattie and Lydia Bryant found a true friend and sister in Scottish Frances Henderson.

Jeff Andrews shared his home with Michele Ossola from Italy.

From Varese, Italy came Michele Ossala, who spent his year with Jeff Andrews and family.

A busy schedule was kept by "Mike" including studies in Public Speaking, Trigonometry, American Government, English Literature, Electronics, and Physical Education. While not studying he found time to be an active member of the A.F.S., Ecivres, and Senators. Mike also went out for the swimming team.

Upon returning to Italy, Mike will complete his last year at the liceo scientifico, the equivalent of high school, but specializing in science. He will then enter the University of Italy and study engineering.

As a final farewell to Hoover Mike said, "I loved being here, it was a great experience. Meeting people was wonderful, everyone was so friendly and nice. I will never forget the school spirit of Hoover High—the games, school colors, and rivalry. And I truly enjoyed my teachers."

Talented Musicians Create Majesty

Violinists strive to recreate the beauty of the masters.

Concentration and practice leads to perfection

Lilting melodies and impressive notes rise from the flutist section.

Upbow—downbow—louder cellos—speed up the tempo. Similar commands may often be heard by those passing the music building during fourth period.

Hoover's orchestra, superior in its class for the past seventeen years at music festivals, proved its excellence again this year. This integral part of Hoover's music curriculum, under the direction of Mr. Gary Stollsteimer and concert mistress, Karen Rayman, performed for the Christmas Program, the County Music Festival, Regional Music Festival, and various assemblies throughout the year.

For their many hours of toil and evening rehearsal, the members of the orchestra were rewarded. In May, the annual Band and Orchestra Awards Banquet honored outstanding musicians with trophies, plaques, pins, certificates, and a scholarship to the most deserving senior music major.

in Music Through Their Performances

Conducting an orchestra is skilled and serious work. As a director, Mr. Stollsteimer combined talent and dedication.

Emphasis is achieved through the skillful use of drums.

Strike up the band! With this command Hoover's own marching band burst into a medley of show music at games to entertain the crowd at half-time. This is only one activity in which the band participated. Hoover musicians performed in two local parades, and in the County Music Festival. Tradition was renewed as San Diego State College requested the Hoover band to perform during the annual "Band Night."

Fruit cakes were sold by the band to raise funds for various activities in which the band takes part.

The theme from Goldfinger and Mr. Touchdown rang through football and basketball games, rallies and assemblies, as the Pep Band added to Hoover spirit. Newly purchased red blazers made the Pep Band a festive addition to sports activities.

"The Sound of Music"

Hoover's choirs again took top honors in many music festivals under the direction of Mrs. Harriet Buker who discusses musical arrangement with Mary Fleming, student director.

Louder Altos! More support Basses! . . . can often be heard when passing the chorus room. These commands and others are needed when rehearsing for the many activities in which the choir participates; included are the Christmas Program, County Music Festival, and other off-campus performances.

Quality is their substance from the word "Go," as Hoover's Ensemble represents the finest polished efforts of our Music Department; their fine voices being displayed both on and off campus.

Under the student direction of Mary Fleming, Hoover's Handbell Choir made appearances at Hoover's Annual Christmas Program and The Community Christmas Program in Balboa Park; these being only two on their busy agenda.

Filling Hoover's halls with ringing music, performing at the Christmas Assembly, and participating in the Spring Festival, are only a few of the activities of the Girls' Chorus.

Academic achievement marks the California Scholastic Federation. Ten or more points per semester, A's equaling three points and B's equaling one, qualify a student for membership. This year the CSF boasted the largest membership ever, an honor for Hoover and its outstanding students. Tutoring services were again offered. A student having a "B" average was eligible to instruct anyone desiring help in any academic course.

"CSF Newsletter" was published to keep its members aware of current local cultural events and television programs. Trips to Disneyland and local activities were planned by the CSF this year.

As a Christmas service project the CSF members collected canned goods which were presented to the Pala Indians of San Diego County.

Quill and Scroll

If you are a brilliant journalist and a member of either the Dias Cardinales or Cardinal staffs, you are eligible to join the Quill and Scroll. The organization, an international honorary society for high school journalists, shares publication problems and renders suggestions for improvement.

Several journalism contests are entered, each student participating in his own field. National winners of these contests are eligible to apply for scholarships granting five hundred dollars. The Quill and Scroll continues to further interest in the fields of communication and journalism.

If a teaching career is your aspiration, then the Apple Polishers is the ideal club for you. More formally referred to as the Future Teachers of America, this club inspires its members to become more familiar with the teaching profession.

Many of the club's members served as teachers' aids throughout San Diego City schools. This gave the students a chance to enrich their knowledge of the teaching profession and to experience the satisfaction of helping others. Stimulating lecturers from all educational fields gave the Apple Polishers an insight to the professional problems, hazards and rewards of a teaching career.

Booster Officers

Officers: Morebello, Sec.; Sprouse, Vice Pres.; Fresquez, Pres.; Burchett, Treas.

Hoorah for Hoover! . . . Go Cardinals Go! . . . Slogans, posters, and gay decorations helped to make this a successful year for Hoover athletes. Under the vivacious leadership of Donna Dupree, Commissioner of School Spirit, dozens of posters and yards of red and white crepe paper help to completely demoralize the opposition. The Booster, Art and Decorating Clubs continue to be the leaders in school spirit.

Art Committee

Red and white streamers and balloons highlighted Hoover's athletic activities due to the hard work of the Booster Decorations Committee.

Decorations Committee

Bright banners shouting Hoover spirit helped to lead our teams to victory. The Booster Art Committee met nearly every week to blob paint on dozens of banners.

Chaotic meetings and lots of fun are typical of Hoover's sophomore, junior, and senior Y-Teens. Many service projects are planned, such as giving baskets of food to needy families at Thanksgiving and Easter. During Christmas the Y-Teens brought holiday spirit to the elderly of Edgemoor Farm. A special community assembly sponsored by the Junior Y-Teens featured C. Mason Harvey as speaker. "Carousel," the Y-Teens annual dance, highlighted the year.

Organization and attentiveness, typical of all Y-Teens meetings, are demonstrated here during a well-run Junior Y-Teens meeting. Sophomores were invited to attend so that they could form a group and see the proper method of organization.

Parlez-vous français? Oui? Then you are eligible for membership in Hoover's active French Club. Under the excellent supervision of Mr. Francis King, members of the organization greatly enriched their knowledge of France, her customs, and her people. The students put on skits in French and a play from the novel Les Miserables. At Christmas they went caroling and sang songs in French. Caroling was followed by a Christmas party. During the spring a party was held at which Mr. King showed slides and discussed his trips to France. A joint beach party with the AFS and CSF was planned as a final activity for the organization. Several sales were held throughout the year to raise money for the club activities. The proceeds from one sale were donated to the AFS to raise funds for next year's exchange program.

Latin Club

Want to eat as the Romans eat? Buy a candy apple from the Latin Cub. Although not too authentic, the activity raised revenue for operating expenses.

Members learned Christmas Carols in Latin and sang them at their annual Christmas party. Also, an Easter party was held and a trip to Disneyland planned. Club members, comprised of students taking Latin courses, participated in the annual Roman Banquet; complete with slaves, costumes, and a roasted pig.

Under the supervision of Mr. James Mullin, Hoover's Latin Club adds moral significance with its motto, "Veritas Vos Liberabit," which translated means, "The Truth Shall Make You Free."

German Club

We will German Brownies sell because we your money want!" Seem strange? Not to the members of the German Club. This sale, held each year, is very popular with Hoover students and is a big money-raising project. Enthusiastic students desiring to learn about the German people and their culture are welcome to join the German Club, lectures and view the slides of Germany which are provided by Miss Schoessler, the club advisor. Much fun was had by one and all in learning German songs.

Several activities were held throughout the year by the members of the German Club. During Christmas vacation, they went caroling throughout the city. Later during the year the club planned a Disneyland trip. To finish off a fun-filled year, the German Club had its traditional banquet. This club continues to be a favorite with Hoover students.

Pan American Club

Se habla espanol? Even if you don't, you are still welcome to join the Pan American Club. Under the guidance of Mrs. Hoff, advisor, this club's members learn much about Spanish-speaking countries. Speakers are invited from the San Diego consuls to familiarize students with the countries they represent. Club members who have visited Mexico show slides and relate their experiences. Many field trips are made to local Spanish-influenced places. Old Town, the San Diego Mission de Alcala, Ramona's Marriage Place, Balboa Park, and museum exhibits are among the favorite attractions the club visits.

Sales are held throughout the year in sponsor of activities and the club's annual scholarship. Each year a fifty dollar scholarship is awarded to a worthy senior excelling in Spanish.

A Variety of Clubs Give Hooverites

Russian Club

Students enrolled in Mrs. Arnold's second period class comprised the Hoover chapter of the Russian Club. The club not only sought to teach the students the Russian language, but also many aspects of the Russian civilization and culture. The students were able to delve into Russian history and culture to broaden their own horizons relative to past and present Russian history.

An annual all-city banquet was held and featured a play written in Russian and directed and produced by the students.

Science Club

Passing Mr. Nordstrom's room during third period this year caused many a wandering eye and curious minds to be drawn in that direction. The exploits of class members were mixed with various experiments to produce good times and learning for all. The class, composed of advanced chemistry students, doubled as both a social club and academic organization.

The club sold See's suckers to raise money and held their annual Christmas party.

Visual aids of a variety were of instructional merit; filmstrips, films, charts, and tables. First hand experiences such as field trips and experiments, and outside information, such as book reviews and speakers were also of immense value.

Each year, to the club member that has done outstanding work, the club awards a scholarship.

Electronics Club

First you take the white wire and hold it in your left hand. Then you take the black wire and touch it to the end of the white wire." Zzzzt! "Hey! What are you trying to do; electrocute me?"

Sounds like an initiation to the Electronics Club, but actually the above procedure is on a list of don'ts for the club members. The Electronics Club is comprised of interested students enrolled in electronics, and is under the sponsorship of Mr. Mahoney. The club engaged in various activities throughout the year. Among these was a field trip to the KOGO studios to observe, first hand, electronics on a large and complicated scale. Members also spent many hours repairing damaged equipment, such as radios and hi-fi's, for practical experience and to further their knowledge of electronics and its practical application in today's world.

Bowling Club

Oh no!!! Another gutter ball!! That makes three in a row! Such cries of dismay can be heard each week as Hoover's Bowling Club meets at the Aztec Bowling Alley. Members of the club are divided into teams which compete for top honors. At the end of the season trophies are awarded for high series, first place team, and most improved bowler. Throughout the year, pins are awarded for scores of two hundred or more. To finish off the fun-filled year, the annual student-faculty game is held; members of the teams bowl against the faculty. The activity is looked forward to by Hoover's star performers. The Bowling Club does much to promote sportsmanship, skill, and interest with its members.

Helpful Hooverites Gain Experience

Office Monitors

I have a pass for Mary Smith" . . . "You have a two cents fine" . . . "Open the curtains" . . . These are a few of the sights and sounds of the library workers, office monitors, and stage crew. These students put in many hours and much hard work to contribute to the smooth running of Hoover High.

Library workers handled the desk and did much to keep the library in order. Students took library practice for one period each day and received a grade. They also worked one hour after school each week.

Office monitors spent one hour a day helping deliver passes and running errands for counselors and secretaries.

Hoover was dependent on the stage crew for the smooth production of assemblies, rallies, programs, and dances.

Through Service to the School

Red Cross Council

Just giving a few pennies can make every Hooverite a member of Hoover's Red Cross. Over $270 was collected and donated to the local Red Cross Headquarters this year. This money is used for youth all over the world.

Correspondence was maintained between Hoover and her sister high school in Guam. A cultural chest was donated to the Red Cross. Into this was placed recordings of our school orchestra and choirs, a copy of the Dias Cardinales and the Cardinal, pictures of San Diego, and compositions from several English classes.

The members worked as assistants to laboratory technicians at the Navy and County Hospitals. They also attended the leadership center at Riverside.

Ducateers

Tickets—30 cents!! One of the most important organizations found at Hoover are the Ducateers. A service club comprised of twenty girls, the Ducateers are an invaluable part of the efficiency of our school. They sell tickets to all school functions, mainly to football and basketball games.

Several sales, such as the doughnut and fudge sales, helped to raise finances for the Ducateers' final activity: a trip to Disneyland.

The Ducateers are sponsored by Mrs. James, the financial secretary, and by Miss Martha Miller, a typing and shorthand teacher.

Thespians

Representing Hoover at local drama festivals is just one of the ways the Thespians serve their school and community. The Thespians, a national honorary drama organization, under the sponsorship of Mr. John Smith, served Hoover in many different ways this year. One act play festivals at San Diego State and Mesa Jr. College were one way of representing Hoover, in addition to productions at Cal Western and school plays. Some members even obtained roles for Starlight Opera and Junior Theatre presentations.

The Society seeks out an excellence in drama through its benefits and social activities.

Off stage as well as on, the actors still like to ham it up.

Senators

To be or not to be! . . . Under the supervision of Mr. Schermerhorn, Hoover's eloquent speakers learn the techniques of public speaking. As always, the Senators lived up to their tradition as winners.

According to the new city plan, all speaking events are divided into different tournaments. The first was the Discussion Tournament and the Senators took first place, bringing a second place to Hoover's orators. The Senators also participated in the Forensic Debate, and county-wide speech tournaments.

Various sales were held throughout the year to raise the required entrance fees. Hard work and many hours were spent in preparation for the tournaments. However, the Senators found time for fun. A masquerade party was held to welcome new members into the organization and in June a banquet to select the Senators' best speakers was held.

Senators gleefully admire trophy presented to them for capturing first place in La Jolla Speech Tournament.

The Silver Blades, Hoover's precision drill team, practices their routines for a competitive meet with other high schools.

Left, right, left, right, halt . . . about face! This is part of what an ROTC cadet goes through during class. Various maneuvers have to be learned in preparation for parades, competition against other schools, and future military service. The cadet acquires such skills as map and compass reading and the caring and handling of firearms. As representatives of Hoover the ROTC also performed valuable services for the school and community, such as raising and lowering the flag, and acting as guards at athletic events. We should all be proud of the work of these fine cadets.

Underclassmen Are Progress

This year the Underclassmen worked closely with Hoover's administration. The leaders of the undergraduate classes joined with Mr. Henzie to form a smooth working student government.

Class of '67

Top: Mr. Smith, advisor; Paul Salerno, president Bottom: Lynn Love, secretary-treasurer; Kathi Hoffer, vice president.

The officers of this year's Junior Class will be noted for their revolutionary thinking and their ability to come up with bold, new ideas. They ably led their cabinet in planning many different projects and activities which were not only enjoyable, but also quite profitable. The Junior Ball and the Junior Party are only two of the events which will long be remembered as highlights of their Junior year.

The 1966 Junior Cabinet could well have been one of the busiest cabinets Hoover has ever seen. They undertook planning two different dances along with many sales to supplement their class treasury. Class rings were sold in the Marquis and round styles with white or black stones. Another innovation was the sale of sterling silver charm bracelets featuring a Hoover "toughie" Cardinal. The Class of '67 has already left its mark at Hoover.

Top: John Redlinger, vice president; Mrs. Volz, advisor. Bottom: Linda Heckler, secretary-treasurer; Mike Flanigan, president.

Progress seemed to be the key word for the Sophomore Class officers. They worked hard together to unite the class and to plan for their coming years at Hoover. They recognized the necessity for a sound financial standing and led their cabinet members in organizing many worthwhile projects. They did their utmost to provide a central force, around which all the members of the class could join, working together.

Past experience proved to be the greatest asset of this year's Sophomore Cabinet. Tradition, however, did not dictate to these young people; it was only a stepping-stone from which they went on to bigger and better things. Under the suggestion of the class officers, a spirit chairman was added to the cabinet to promote interest in the varied activities. The entire school benefited from the progress made by the Class of '68.

JoAnne Redlinger, publicity; Judi DeHamer, spirit; Frank Mitchell, sales; Hattie Bryant, activities.

Seniors Excel in the Tradition of the

The Marriage Machine, a witty comedy, was one of the highlights of the 1965-66 school year. Seniors were delighted with this year's entertaining and enjoyable Senior Play.

Sharon,
This is your family old pencil

Senior Cabinet

Fred Carpenter — President Senior Class

Pepe Sinard — Vice President

A new and dynamic approach by officers towards activities has been the most impressive characteristic of the senior cabinet, Class of 1966. Spirit and loyalty, exemplified by an industrious cabinet, are attributes which once again fulfilled Hoover's tradition of fine leadership. Activities planned early in the year and now complete have proven the efficiency, imagination, and perseverance of each officer, and the dedication with which they approached their tasks.

Bobbi Messig, Secretary

Pickle sales and car washes are examples of money raising events whose proceeds supplemented traditional senior activities. The Senior Prom, held at the Community Concourse, became a never-to-be-forgotten evening, as did the Senior Dinner and Vespers. Although panicked with expectations of the future, realizations of the present, and memories of the past, this year's class graduated, inspired by a new feeling of class unity and a cabinet policy of cooperation and concern.

Counseling, Their Job; the Future, Ours

Mr. Vickery, class advisor for the past three years and a senior counselor, talks with a busy class president.

When the senior counselors congratulate the Class of 1966. We hope that your years at Hoover have prepared you to cope with the dramatic contrast that is ever present in today's world. Never before has opportunity been so great for those who are willing to give of themselves. Difficulties and setbacks may occur, but do not become discouraged. Times are changing more rapidly than ever before, but do not underestimate your abilities, for they are more than adequate to meet the challenges of today. Believe in yourselves, have courage, and always face your problems as they arise. There have always been difficult tasks to accomplish, but only you can accept and meet the challenges of these tasks.

The future rests in your hands. Each of you should develop a set of goals and values to work towards during your lifetime, never allowing anything to deter you from your objectives. You must be willing to accomplish something each and every day.

The day you graduate will be both memorable and frightening. It will reveal a variety of paths to explore, filled with wondrous possibilities. Give your best that you will receive the best.

Mrs. Baker and Mr. Dowell have assisted many seniors in planning future careers.

Tradition Meets Progress in the Class

Each graduating class in turn is proclaimed the best by its teachers, counselors, and principal. Each student, on graduation day, is advised of his capabilities and warned of the great responsibility which he, as a future citizen, must accept. The Class of 1966 has been no exception. There have been laurels and tributes to its potential greatness because of the talent and ability possessed by its members. A traditional optimism has been elaborated upon by the faculty as we, the students, are released from their guidance.

However, we will not be content to just accept our education, but will rather accept the challenge of our responsibilities today. We will not be content with tradition alone, but will demand progress. The world today is one in which a step not taken becomes a step backwards.

Our class will insist upon steps of improvement and betterment of existing conditions. We will not shatter all traditions in the process, for one of the lessons we have learned is that traditions provide stability upon which to base progress. Our goal will be to combine progress and tradition in a worthwhile meeting. We welcome our responsibility to be concerned citizens and yet realize the enormity of our task. We the members of the Class of 1966 will not be content to rest upon laurels already earned, but with courage we will explore new fields and find answers to today's unanswerable questions. We will not be afraid to face the challenge of the modern world which confronts us today. Equipped with our educations, we will strive to combine tradition and progress in tomorrow's world.

"Is it fixed?"

The Result Is Confusion and Romance

Automation, an ever growing threat to the American way of life, has now even entered into the sacred field of matrimony. This year's senior play, The Marriage Machine, was a light, frothy spoof of today's computer cupids.

Connie Drake, played by Sue Knight, is a learned psychologist who opens a matrimonial agency using a computer to match prospective couples. Pandemonium results when the machine breaks down and clients are mismatched. Miss Drake, who believes she is in love with a physicist, finds that he has been matched with a scatter-brained secretary who came to the Drake Introduction Agency for a job.

All ends well, however, when Miss Drake falls in love with the secretary's ex-boy friend and finds that love is not the rational, reasonable thing she once thought.

"You all know the process."

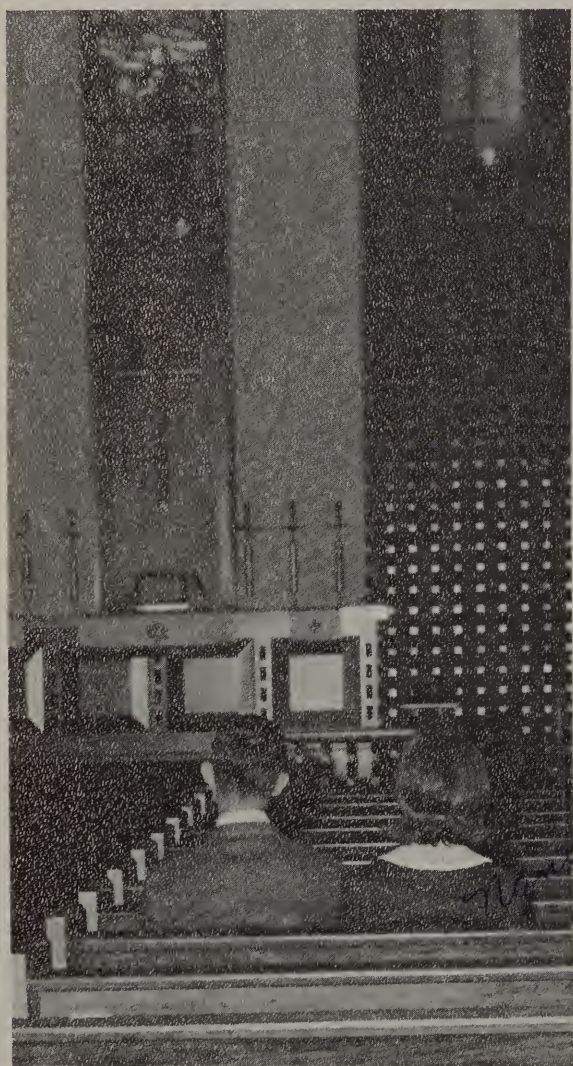

Education, Hope of the Future,

Secretarial work is but one of the many specialized fields that Hoover girls may expect to enter.

World crises, the draft, the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps all demand that we be willing to face the responsibility of being adults.

Many hours of manual labor help to prepare Hoover boys to accept tomorrow's careers.

A home, a family, and the unity which can exist between a man and a woman will eventually come, we hope, to all our graduates.

Holds the Key to Lasting Happiness

Graduation, although marking the end of one career, signifies the beginning of another. It is a time when the importance and value of an education is realized. Never before have opportunities been so great for those who are prepared. Our ever more expanding and exciting world demands of its peoples knowledge and wisdom. Those things which we have learned at Hoover will be the foundation for our success in future years. For us, the seniors, this year has become one of separation and the end of long cherished security. There are many paths to explore, and a high school education has begun to prepare each of us for the fulfillment of our goal in life. Happiness is perhaps the best measure of individual success, rather than material wealth. It is hoped that Hoover seniors will not lose sight of the ultimate worth of life. Security, prosperity, success, and happiness lie within the grasp of those of us willing to realize and appreciate them through individual effort.

Whether it be San Diego, San Francisco, Detroit, New York, or Washington, D.C., this year our paths have begun to separate.

A college education, the culmination of hopes and dreams, at last lies within our grasp.

Academic and Leadership Champions

*Sharon
it's such nice knowing you*

A citizenship program of learning by doing was attended by two Hoover students last summer. Teryl Springstead went to the University of California at Davis for Girls' State, while Ray Cossette was at the Sacramento fairgrounds for Boys' State. The annual event is sponsored by the American Legion and Auxiliary, which provided an all-expense-paid trip for students possessing leadership potential.

A tour of the state capital, meeting with the governor and other state officials, and recreation were highlights of the itinerary.

The five hundred participants from California learned the basic attributes of leadership by organizing political parties and holding elections for mock city, county, and state governments. Seminars were held on every subject from annuals to cheerleading, and each delegate was constantly occupied. Participating in the orchestra, choir or talent show and attending lectures, further enhanced the immediacy and memory of this enriching experience.

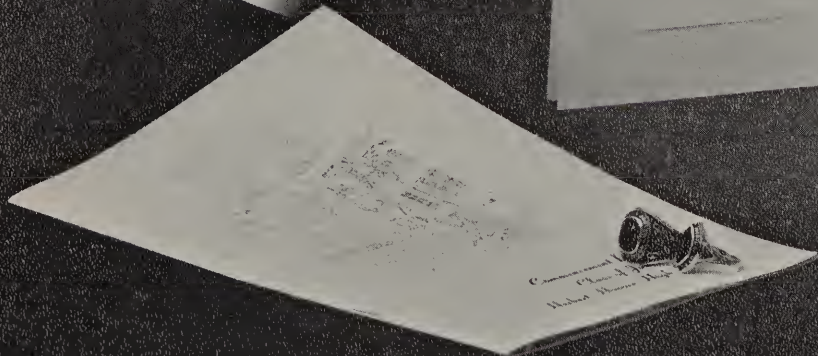

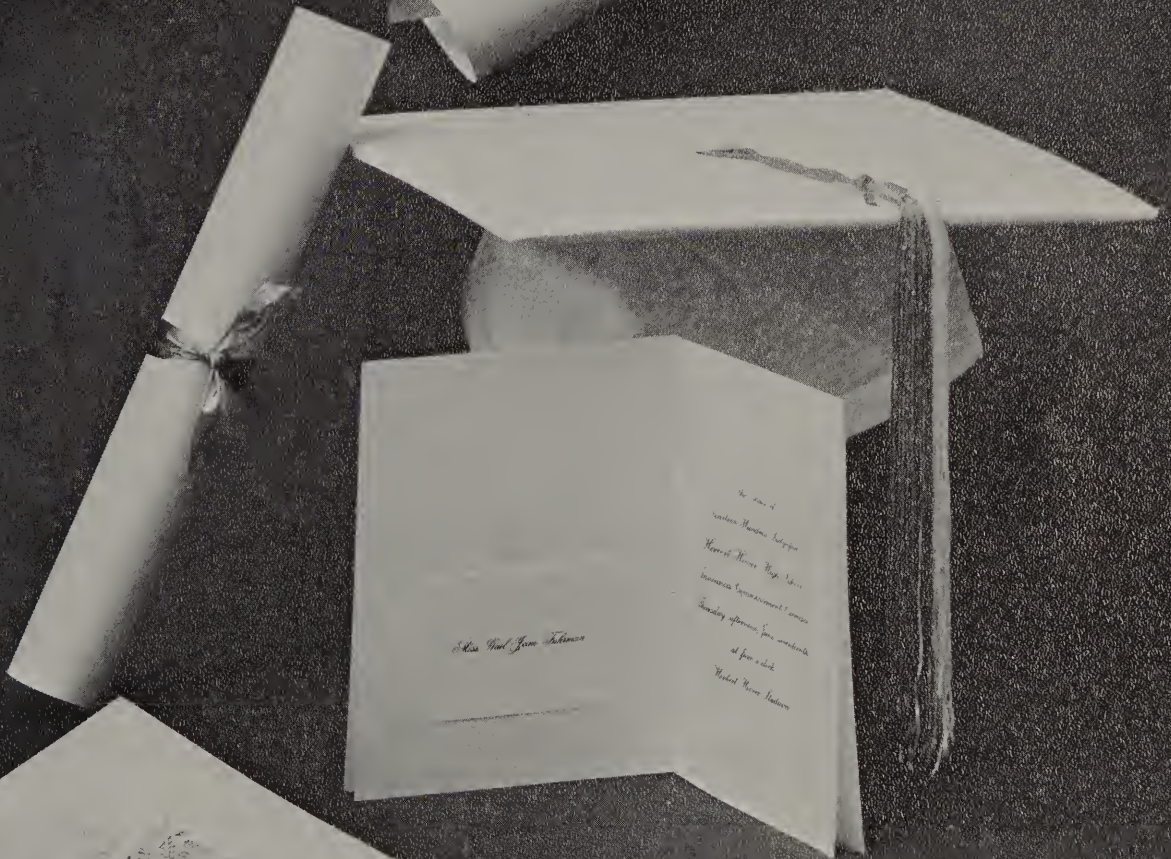

An outstanding record of both scholarship and citizenship has been achieved by California Scholarship Federation life members at Hoover. To be a member of CSF at any time is both an honor and a privilege awarded only to those who can qualify with the necessary grades. Physical Education excluded, academic ability is the most important determining factor in acquiring membership. Life members have qualified at least four semesters while at Hoover, and thereby have proven their ability. These students are aware of the value of education, and have been dedicated and sincere in their endeavors. Possessive of the above qualifications, they are eligible for scholarships and additional privileges. Those who have gained this distinction are:

This year's DIAS CARDINALES was designed to identify the 1966 school year with the individual. The DIAS CARDINALES Staff served well in the production of several unique innovations which they hope will preserve within these covers the experiences we have had at Hoover. My deepest gratitude and sincerest congratulations are extended to the 1966 DIAS CARDINALES Staff.

Busco-Nestor Studios held Hoover's photography contract this year. The process of action, still, and group pictures were handled superbly by this well-known and technically superior studio.

Neyenesch Printers and Lithographers, Inc., once again did an excellent job in printing the 1966 DIAS CARDINALES. The service and technical ability of this company is unsurpassed. I, personally, would like to thank Mr. Jim Neyenesch for his unbelievable cordiality, consideration, and advice. Thank you, Mr. Neyenesch.

As advisor to the 1966 DIAS CARDINALES, Mr. Fred Jappe proved to be an invaluable aid and asset. Backed by many years of yearbook experience, Mr. Jappe acted as friend, counselor, and leader. Recognition was given to our illustrious advisor as he was dubbed by "Photolith" Magazine as "Man-of-the-Month."

If one derives a personal satisfaction from this book, we, the 1966 DIAS CARDINALES Staff, feel that our work, trials, and tribulations will be justified.

Sincerely,

John N. Dodge
